To Harness the Moon They All Wanted It. They'll Believe Foch Spending $250,000,000

BY ARTHUR BRISBANE

PROFESSOR GEORGES CLAUDE, Paris, inventor of synthetic ammonia and a serious scientist, tells the Academy of Science that he has a cheap, efficient way to harness the tide power.

His complicated process, depending on utilization of the ocean's temperature varying at different depths, is one thing that such an invention might supply the one thing that is above all others, power unlimited, cheap and forever.

• • •

WHEN you harness the tides you will harness the power of the moon with its constant pull of water raises and lowers the ocean's surface. Whether men are far enough advanced to deserve free power, use it rightly, or not be made lazy by it, remains to be seen.

• • •

NOW it is said, in connection with the Vanderbilt marriage annulment, that the lady in the case, Consuelo Vanderbilt Marlborough, now Mrs. Balsan, also wanted the annulment decree. Divorcing her duke, she married Balsan, a French Catholic, and the Catholic Church admits no divorce, she is not exactly married to him in the Catholic meaning of the word, although legally married.

• • •

THE annulment decree, from Rome, is said, straightens everything out nicely. With the original marriage declared null and void, never in force, everybody is now correctly married to everybody else. The duchess has a new husband, the duke and duchess a new wife, everything is perfect in the eyes of the law and the eyes of the Pope.

• • •

PERHAPS the children born of the marriage now declared void will feel somebody overlooked them. And perhaps the late W. K. Vanderbilt, if he could say some things to the Marlborough solicitor that got seven Vanderbilt millions for his duke, before the latter consented, as Tad puts it, "to put his head on the altar rail."

For nearly everybody is satisfied, and that is much better than the average in this life.

• • •

THERE arises a question of veracity between Marshal Foch and the king of Belgium. Foch says he persuaded King Albert not to let the Belgians retreat from the Yser. It is a fact that the king issued a proclamation, making any question of retreat treason.

• • •

THE king says Foch had nothing to do with it. The general public will back Foch's memory. Kings have a habit to forget that is not permitted to commoners. Anyhow, but for Foch, the management of the war, there would be any King Albert. Some other Hohenzollern would be sitting on the Belgian throne, nicely overstuffed, and finding it comfortable for him.

• • •

THE treasury surplus this year will be the above two hundred and fifty millions, thanks to good management by Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon. And every man in income tax payer on a large scale it means good news to get a rebate of as much as 15 per cent on what you paid last year.

• • •

PERHAPS a way to spend the $250,000,000 could be found, better than giving it back. Part of that money might go to this nation's fighting air fleet, one of all others. At present, we have none.

Part of the money would connect the Great Lakes with the Gulf, by a canal down the Mississippi Valley.

• • •

MUCH could be done with all or most of $250,000,000, more romantic even than giving it back. Nothing, probably, could be "useful" would suit better those that have the money.

• • •

OVER the Greeks of ancient days pondered on this proposition: "Shall a large sum be divided among the citizens of Athens, or shall the money be used for the national defense?"

The Greeks voted the money away from their own pockets to national defense. But they were old-fashioned Greeks.

• • •

MUSSOLINI, as is usual with one in power, now combats treachery in his own ranks, as well as conspiracy at home and abroad.

Each Fascist official, close to the throne who "reigns" under Mussolini's strong hand, is moved from his important position.

• • •

SIGNOR D. Mussolini become suspicious of the royal family, that necessitate another usual step in the course of dictatorship, and put himself on the throne.

The devil kept away from it, and power lasted until long after he might have been better for Italy and England had he gone the way from "Lord Protector" to "King by the Grace of God."

SUNDAY should have a cheerful picture. Treasury officials estimate United States banks now contain fifty billions of dollars.

DAYS OF KING ARE NUMBERED, QUEEN IS TOLD

Will Take First Available Liner Back to Bucharest and Her Husband

CABLE IS RECEIVED

Practically All Social Activities and Balance of Itinerary Canceled

Aboard Queen Marie Special Train, at Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18 Queen Marie of Roumania will leave tonight for New York City, cancelling all engagements in her American itinerary, it was officially announced today. Her majesty expects to arrive in New York about Saturday to await quietly the sailing of the liner Berengaria next Wednesday.

• • •

Aboard Queen Marie's Special Train, in Louisville, Ky., Nov. 18 — Queen Marie of Roumania today cut short her triumphal tour of America when she received word that the days of King Ferdinand were numbered.

KING FERDINAND

"My heart is heavy," said her majesty with tears in her eyes. "I have heard unfortunate news. I must go home. I am a soldier and duty takes precedence."

The Balkan queen will take the first available liner that may carry her back to Bucharest, where she may nurse her beloved monarch. It is planned at present for her to sail from New York on the Berengaria, Nov. 24.

She had previously expected to sail Dec. 11.

Receives Cable

A cable in cipher from abroad reporting the grave condition of the king of Roumania caused her majesty to make the unexpected announcement. A state of temporary chaos reigned aboard the royal Roumanian special as sheaves of telegrams were dispatched cancelling all social engagements.

Queen Marie is ready to return to Roumania immediately but transportation obstacles may delay her. The remainder of her American itinerary

CALLES' DAUGHTER STUDIES IN U. S.

Nicaraguan President Asks for Semi-Intervention in Country By United States

America May Maintain Semi-Permanent Naval Force To Combat So-Called Active "Encroachment of Mexican Radicalism" in Countries of Caribbean

Washington, Nov. 18—An avenue apparently was opened today for the United States to maintain a semi-permanent naval force in Nicaraguan waters to combat what the State Department considers the active "encroachment of Mexican radicalism" into the countries of the Caribbean.

Such a policy would amount, of course, to a virtual American protectorate over Nicaragua and would not be displeasing to American concerns that have large interests in the country.

The avenue has been opened by the request of Adolofo Diaz, the new president of Nicaragua, for something very close to permanent intervention by the American government into the disordered affairs of the little republic. Diaz has stated that this semi-intervention is necessary to prevent neighboring countries, principally Mexico, from aiding and fomenting revolutionary activities in his country. The State Department has received his request sympathetically and is considering it.

Diaz Recognized

Diaz was elevated to the presidency of Nicaragua a few days ago and was promptly accorded recognition by the State Department, which for a year prior had refused to recognize the revolutionary government headed by Gen. Emilio Chamorro. The American government's opposition to Chamorro ultimately forced his withdrawal, and, under the guiding influence of the American charge at Managua, Diaz was chosen to succeed him.

The State Department has been concerned for some time over evidences of what it considers Mexican "interference" in the affairs of Nicaragua, and also of Guatemala.

Official reports have disclosed that the liberal revolutionists had access to Mexican arms and ammunition. Fifteen sailing ships, equipped with various assortments of flags, and loaded with rifles and ammunition and in some cases men, were enabled to clear mysteriously from Mexican ports, and arrived just as successfully at Nicaraguan ports.

The Calles government officially disavowed any connection with these acts.

HOUNDED PHYSICIAN IS SLAIN AT STEUBENVILLE

Dr. J. L. Delphino's Body Found Slumped in Auto and Riddled with Bullets

Steubenville, Nov. 18—Hounded and driven from one city to another for years by enemies who have not been identified, Dr. J. L. Delphino, 51, fell a victim to their bullets on a Toronto road here early this morning.

The physician's body was found, slumped to the floor of his automobile, riddled with bullets from an automatic pistol at Bates Bridge, across the river from here.

Dr. Delphino came here from Martins Ferry about a year ago. His arrival was unostentatious but his ability as a practitioner soon brought him local fame. He admitted to friends that he had fled from one town to another in the hope of evading enemies, but did not explain the circumstances. He said he left Martins Ferry when he felt fears for his life.

TWO MARION MEN HURT WHEN AUTO OVERTURNS

C. K. Scott and Burns Perfect Figure in Accident Near Radnor

C. K. Scott of Courtland Terrace, division engineer of the Erie Railroad, and Burns Perfect of 312 S. Vine st, Mr. Scott's chief clerk, were injured and Mr. Perfect's automobile, a Willys-Knight sedan, was partly wrecked when the machine toppled from the roadway near Radnor about 6 o'clock this morning and crashed into a telephone post.

The accident occurred at a point where the foundation at the side of the thoroughfare had been washed out, the road caving in under the weight of the automobile.

Both men were badly bruised and cut, Mr. Scott's injuries being especially serious. Four of his teeth were knocked out, his face was lacerated and his shoulders sprained and bruised. Mr. Perfect's injuries resulted chiefly of bruises and cuts about the face. Both were unconscious for a short time following the accident.

Taken to Farmhouse

The two were victims were taken to a nearby farmhouse, where they were given surgical attention. They were then able to return to their homes in this city.

Scott and Perfect were enroute to Delaware, from where Mr. Scott had intended to take a train for Dayton. They were driving over the detour road between Prospect and Radnor which has been in use for several months during the progress of improvement work on the main Marion-Delaware highway.

That the two men were not more seriously injured is regarded as miraculous, as the front of the automobile was almost completely wrecked by impact with the telephone pole.

2,000 ARRESTED FOR TRAFFIC VIOLATIONS

Cleveland Motor Cops Make Second Drive in Week on Autoists; Bad Lights Hit

Cleveland, Nov. 18—It is no unusual sight to see thousands of persons standing in line, waiting for tickets to a ball game, prize fight or other event, but the procedure was reversed here today when 2,000 persons stood in line trying to get rid of their tickets—traffic summonses.

The motorists were the victims of a police foray last night, the second within a week, and most of them were arrested for displaying improperly adjusted lights.

More than 4,000 others have been caught since the crusade began last week, when 1,200 were ticketed during one night.

THREE GOBBLERS SENT PRESIDENT

Washington, Nov. 18—Ohio was the first state to come forward with a concrete assurance that President and Mrs. Coolidge will enjoy an approved Thanksgiving meal.

A large crate containing three very heavy and very live turkeys arrived at the White House this morning. The fowls were the gift of the Peoples National Bank of Mt. Pleasant, Ohio.

REDISTRICTING PLAN STRIKES OTHER SNAGS

Substantiated Reports Indicate Formal Protests Will Be Filed with Council

TOO IRREGULAR, CLAIM

Election Board Secretary Says Boundary Lines Create Puzzling Situation

Although City Council last week adopted the ordinance redistricting Marion into six wards and designating boundaries for the new alignment, there is possibility that the problem is not completely solved. This is indicated in well-substantiated reports that formal protests against the proposed ward arrangement are likely to be filed before the ordinance goes into effect on Jan. 1.

The first objection voiced against the redistricting plan came in a letter from E. H. Cowan, president of the Marion Real Estate Board, published in last Saturday's issue of The Star. It is stated that other business men connected with different organizations have expressed similar objections and are now considering sending representatives to members of Council to ascertain if a repeal of the ordinance and revision of the plans could be brought about.

Extreme irregularity of the boundary lines of the new wards, to be located south of Center st is the basis of the chief objection against the plan adopted by Council, it is stated. This viewpoint was expressed in that part of Mr Cowan's communication which read:

Cowan's Statement

"Roughly speaking, it is proposed to divide the Third Ward and Fourth Ward each into two wards by an east and west line, meandering and zigging along on its way through cross streets and around sharp angles in such a manner as to cause great inconvenience in the work of the various offices at the courthouse and city hall, and also still greater inconvenience to our citizens."

CITY PRACTICALLY FREE OF CONTAGIOUS DISEASES

Report of Department of Health Shows Causes of Contagion Removed

Marion is now practically free of contagious diseases according to records of the Department of Public Health. This condition exists following elimination of the typhoid fever situation which existed in one section of the West Side for several months and checking of a threatened spread of diphtheria on the North Side.

Danger of typhoid fever developing in the future on several West Side streets where a number of cases occurred during the summer and fall from use of contaminated well water has been greatly reduced, Dr. W. J. Weiser, City Health Commissioner, stated today. All residents of the danger zone have been warned to discontinue use of the water and the warning has been generally heeded, according to Health Department reports. This has been made possible by extension of city water lines on several of the streets.

Alarm in one section of the North Side following death of two children from diphtheria last week has passed, as a consequence of precautions taken by health officials to prevent a spread of the disease. As there have been no signs of other cases developing, it is now certain that all danger is at an end, heads of the health department say.

AGED HOUSE OF DAVID LEADER, UNDER BOND OF $70,000, SERIOUSLY ILL

Hearing of "King" Benjamin Purnell on Serious Charge Scheduled Dec. 22

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 18 — Suffering from a severe attack of diabetes, which has crippled him in the last year, "King" Benjamin Purnell, aged leader of the House of David, was back in the colony today, a weak, sick man.

Purnell was released from jail late yesterday on $70,000 bond posted by local businessmen. His hearing on two serious charges made by former girl members of the sect, has been set for Dec. 22.

W. J. Barrand, attorney for the colony, announced that Purnell was determined to fight for final vindication in the courts. A defense fund of almost a million dollars will be available, if needed, it was reported.

In an official statement, the House of David denounced the press as a "prisoner of public opinion," and issued orders barring new reporters from the grounds.

Bowing in homage, "King" Ben's followers greeted him in royal fashion when he returned to the colony yesterday after being freed on bond. Some kissed his pallid hand. Only a few members of the colony were permitted to see him today.

LITTLE HOPE HELD FOR SIX MINERS

Rescue Workers Push On; More Pumps Placed in Operation at Shaft

Hazelton, Pa., Nov. 18—A score workers placed more pumps in position for operation today. Little hope was expressed that the six men trapped behind a heap of fallen waste in the Cranberry Colliery of the Lehigh Valley Coal Co., near here, would be rescued alive.

The six men with four others who escaped, were trapped when the bed of a creek broke. The day following heavy rains flood up the workings of the mine. Mine officials, directing the work, said today that no sign of life had been obtained from the six miners.

ORVILLE CANDIDATE DECLARED WINNER

A. H. Elling Given 68 Vote Majority In State Senatorial Race

Columbus, Nov. 18—A. H. Elling, Orville, was elected state senator from the combined 17th, 19th, 24th and 28th districts over A. L. Fair, of Millersburg, in the Nov. 2 election, according to complete and final tabulations of the votes cast, made at the secretary of state's office today. His majority was 68 votes.

Elling received 21,553 and Fair 21,485.

Both are democrats.

Walter G. Nickels, New Philadelphia, republican, was the other senator elected from the district.

MRS. GIBSON IS TAKEN TO COURT IN AMBULANCE

Declares Pastor's Wife and Brothers Were at Scene of Double Murder

TESTIFIES FROM BED

Tells of Hearing Shots That Killed Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Mills

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 18—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her two brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens, were at the scene of the murder of Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, Mrs. Jane Gibson, the state's star witness, testified from a bed in the Somerset County courthouse today.

Mrs. Gibson had been brought here in an ambulance from a Jersey City hospital and placed on a little white bed in front of the jurors so that she could relate her "eye-witness" story.

It was her first courtroom declaration that Henry Stevens was present at the murder scene and created a sensation. Henry Stevens clenched his hands over the arms of his chair.

Says She Is Certain

When Mrs. Gibson asserted that she saw Mrs. Hall at the scene of the double murder, Prosecutor Simpson said to the defendant:

"Will you please remove your hat?"

Mrs. Hall removed her black hat.

"Is that the woman you saw at the scene?" Simpson asked, his voice resounding through the courtroom.

Mrs. Gibson turned her towel-bandaged head and in a low but clear voice, said:

"Yes, that is the woman I saw that night."

Mrs. Gibson then identified both Willie and Henry Stevens as the other two she saw at the scene of the murder.

"Have you any doubt as to their identity?" Simpson asked.

Mrs. Gibson paused dramatically, and then said:

"I have absolutely no doubt."

Describes Night

Prosecutor Simpson had asked Mrs. Gibson what she had been in the lane on the fatal night after she had gone out on her Jenny mule in search of corn thieves, who had been stealing her corn. Some time after 9 o'clock, the barking of her dog quartered in the barn of her 61 acre farm, three miles from the scene, had caused her to leave her house, mount her mule and follow a rickety wagon that went in the direction of Dr Rowe's lane. She followed long enough to learn that the wagon was empty and did not contain any of her corn.

It was while returning home through the lane that she came upon the three persons near the now famous crabapple tree.

Q "When you got to the tree, did you get off the mule?"

A "Yes, and tied the mule to a cedar tree."

Q "What, if anything, did you hear?"

A "I heard mumbling voices. They kept coming closer and closer."

Asks About Letters

Q "What did you hear them say?"

A "I heard someone say, 'How do you explain these letters?' Then I heard, 'God damn it, let go!' Then I heard the wood going out of a scabbard. Then I heard someone scream. Then there was a flashlight from here to there, illuminated and something glittered."

Q "Then did you hear a woman's voice?"

A "I heard a shot and a woman said, 'Henry, my, my, my, Henry.' Then there was a shot and something fell to the ground. Then a woman was screaming."

Q "What did you do?"

A "I ran for my mule and jumped on it. I rubbed my toe on a stone while I ran."

Q "That was when you lost your moccasin?"

A "Yes. Then came shots, bang, bang, bang. I was on my mule by the time."

Q "Then what did you do?"

Clear Glass Electric Light Bulbs To Be Replaced By Frosted Type, Claim

...ype incandescent electric ...s soon to pass out ... According to reports ...ng in information to be had in Marion ...dealers today by a representative of one ...of the largest producing concerns in the country.

In place of the clear glass bulb for ...ures will perhaps only those of the ...frosted type, the agent here Wednesday reported. Agreement to eliminate the old-style light was reached by producers after long deliberation and for a number of reasons. The frosted bulb is ...polished out, does away with the glare that can not be avoided in use of the old-style type and this is said to be the chief cause of the proposed change.

That the clear glass incandescent will be entirely off the market within a few months is evident from the announcement that production of that class of bulbs is now at a low ebb at practically all factories and will cease completely ...Jan. 1.

In connection with doing away with the clear glass bulb, factory managers ...are planning another change which will result in lowering prices for the public, it is stated. Where 18 different standard sizes and types of bulbs are now being manufactured only six will be produced in the future. This change, it is claimed, will greatly reduce the overhead expense of the factories, simplify operations and other ...wise increase efficiency to the extent that it will be possible to establish a lower price scale.

The new schedule of standards will do away with 10 and 75-watt lamps and will also dispense with the "long neck" of bulbs and other odd varieties. Experience has shown, factory experts say, that all of the types which are to be eliminated are unnecessary and serve no definite purpose for any lighting equipment.

The proposed changes in the style and standardizing of lights will also reduce the price of bulbs used in radio equipment, according to statements made by the factory representative here Wednesday.

BRITISH DRINKING HABIT UNDERGOING REVOLUTION

London, Nov. 18.—The liquor-drinking habits of the English people are undergoing a revolutionary change, according to statistics issued by the Revenue authorities here, which show that during the past eighteen months there has been a striking decline in the consumption of whisky, brandy, and gin, some very odd fluctuations in the demand for beer, and a very appreciable gain in the consumption of wines.

In the past sports and beer have been the most largely drunk liquors in Britain, wines being regarded as too Continental for English tastes. The statistics indicate that if the upward trend continues wines will eventually supersede beer.

Women are said to be the cause of the abnormal increase in the consumption of foreign light wines and beers, Pilsener in particular being very popular among the gentler sex in England, especially in London.

ODD SECT IN ENGLAND DISCOURAGES MARRIAGE

LONDON, N... 18 — A strange religious sect which does not encourage marriage, which mourns at deaths and which regards a birth as an occasion for concern rather than for rejoicing has been discovered at Leswood, a tiny hamlet tucked away on the picket of the Beautiful Sussex Downs.

Calling themselves the "Dependants," the members of the sect spend the time ...ocks or their time praying and "testifying," in a state of religious fervor.

Their "church" is a little hall situated in the village. The weekly reports usually rumour about 50s. and are mainly women.

They dress in the style of 1850 ... shall flat black straw bonnets perched on their heads with velvet trimmings at the sides, and tied under the chin with ribbons.

"We do not encourage marriage," said Harry Alward, male head of the sect in discussing its principles. "We also do not believe in having celebrations over the birth of a child, nor do we believe in christening or baptism.

COUNCIL TO FIX CITY HALL PLAN FRIDAY NIGHT

Location of Various Municipal Departments Will Be Decided at Meeting.

At a meeting of the building committee of City Council called for Friday night a final effort will be made to reach definite agreement on plans for rearrangement of the city offices in preparation for opening of the new Municipal Court on Jan. 1, it was announced today.

Blueprints of the plans have been completed by White & Hochstetter local firm of architects, and these have been approved with the exception of a few details. It is expected that these points will be disposed of at the conference, so that the plans may be submitted to Council at its meeting next Monday night.

Arrangement of the first floor, where the court and police headquarters are to be located, presents practically all of the problems remaining to be solved. The second floor, where all other municipal offices are to be moved, will require few changes, the rooms now occupied by C., D. & M. employes and officials being suitable for the city's use.

The first floor plan, however, must be almost entirely revised and the da-

To Enlarge Prison

Planning of the city prison, which is to be enlarged with the addition of four or five cells, to the rear, is to be considered at the Friday night conference. The committee is to decide the question of providing quarters for women prisoners. While the state law stipulates that special cells must be used for this purpose, in the case women taken into custody by local police have been questioned at the county jail, and some members of council favor continuing this plan. This procedure complies with the law, it is claimed, and is the most practicable for Marion, where the number of women arrested is small.

A proposal to build cells at the prison in two tiers instead of taking up more floor space with the five new cells is another matter to be decided by the committee at its Friday night conference.

QUEEN GOING HOME

will be curtailed. It was undecided today whether she would set out for New York instantly and await the sailing of a suitable liner or if she would carry out the schedule as far as Detriot, which would include a visit to Cincinnati.

The proposed trip of Princess Henry and Prince Nicolas to the Army-Navy football game in Chicago on Nov. 27, was cancelled today.

Reports Alarm Queen

It was probable that Cleveland, Pittsburgh, Washington, Richmond, White Sulphur Springs and Atlantic City would be notified of her majesty's indisposition.

The queen only a few days ago eliminated her proposed trip to North Carolina and Florida upon receipt of a message from King Ferdinand pleading with her to "come home before Christmas."

Frequent published stories that the king was suffering from cancer have alarmed her majesty.

The queen cabled to Roumania asking for full particulars regarding the true physical condition of the king. The reply, unrevealed in detail, led to the sudden decision of her majesty that she must hasten home.

With a tremble in her voice, Queen Marie told the guests at the Columbia Club in Indianapolis that she had heard "unfortunate news that has made me very sad."

Her Farewell Talk

"I feel that this may be my farewell talk to the American people," Queen Marie said. "I have heard a most distressing piece of news. I am so full of emotion that I can hardly speak coherently. I deeply regret that my trip in your beautiful country is to be terminated so suddenly. I want to tell the Americans how much I love to be with them and appreciate their hospitality. I always want them to remember me. I do not know whether I will be able to come back to America, but I hope and hope that I may."

Another worry which weighed on the mind of Queen Marie was the physical condition of Princess Ileana.

Ileana Still Unnerved

Still unnerved from a close escape from serious injury when the roadster she was driving collided with a heavy motor truck on the road from Chicago to Indianapolis, the pretty princess was confined to bed today with a trained nurse in attendance. The royal patient was officially reported as severely suffering from "excessive fatigue."

Less official information revealed that her highness had an irregular pulse and was subject to fainting spells. While the princess showed no outward signs of injuries from the accident, the possible after-effects of the exposure to a driving snow and rain storm in an open car were carefully guarded against.

REPORT POLICIES OF QUEEN IN DANGER

Vienna, Nov. 18—Reports that Queen Marie has decided to curtail her American trip and return to Roumania as soon as possible, occasioned no surprise here.

It has been an open secret in Balkan circles for several weeks that the condition of King Ferdinand is regarded with considerable concern. According to reports received here from Bucharest, the king is suffering from a severe internal malady and has not taken proper care of himself, but has been inclined to indulge himself whenever his condition appeared to be improving.

In some circles it was also rumored that there may be political moves behind the queen's decision to return. There are indications here that some of the political policies of the queen are in danger of being upset in her absence.

Some reports were received renewing the old rumors that Prince Carol is about to be restored to his rights of succession in view of the uncertainty of King Ferdinand's health.

Is Your Child Thin and Weak?

Right Way to Put on Good Flesh and Make Them Grow Up Strong and Vigorous

As a body builder, an appetite creator, and to make weak, skinny boys and girls sturdy, strong and full of energy, there is nothing like Cod Liver Oil—any physician will tell you that.

Mothers, if any of your children are weak, thin or puny, give them these tablets, as directed for 30 days, and watch them gain flesh and health from day to day—they seldom fail—but if the unusual should happen and you are not supremely satisfied with results—your druggist is authorized to return your money.

Be sure—always—to insist on the original and genuine McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets—60 tablets 60 cents at Bradley's Drug Store, Henney & Cooper's or any druggist. Thousands of boxes sold daily.—Adv.

HALL-MILLS TRIAL

A—"I went home and sat down and began thinking about my corn, and thinking about those shots. I says to myself, 'There is something wrong.' So I went back and tied my mule to the tree and I heard something like a screech and then I got off my mule and the moon was shining very bright. Then I looked and saw a gray haired woman was on her knees doing something with her hands."

Q—"And have you identified that woman?"

A—"Yes, Mrs. Hall."

Q—"Have you identified the man you saw?"

A—"Yes, Henry Stevens."

Q—"Do you see in this courtroom any persons you saw that night?"

Her head was raised by the nurse.

A—"Yes."

Courtroom Silenced

Point them out. She then identified Mrs. Hall and her brother.

The courtroom, packing far beyond its capacity, was held in hushed silence by Mrs. Gibson's story.

As she told of seeing Mrs. Hall kneeling and weeping, Mrs. Hall raised her gloved hand to her face, then dropped it, and clenched it into a fist. Her lips worked nervously.

Henry Stevens was plainly nervous for the first time since the trial started and his ruddy face lost some of its color. He did not drop his gaze, however, holding his head high, his eyes on the witness.

Defense Attorney Case asked the identity of a person standing near Salome Cerrenny, Mrs. Gibson's aged mother who is to be a witness for the defense against her daughter. Simpson objected.

"I object to this," shouted Case.

"Oh, well," said Simpson boorishly, "he is there to preserve order."

Recalls Di Martini

Prosecutor Simpson then took a picture of Felix di Martini, who for several months after the murder, was Mrs. Hall's private detective, and asked the woman lying on the bed if she had ever seen him before.

"Yes," said Mrs. Gibson. "He came to my window and said: 'I will pay you to keep your mouth out of this.' I banged my gun on the floor and told him to get out of the house."

"Why did you not bang the gun down?" Simpson replied.

"I was afraid of him. He got right out."

While Mrs. Gibson was giving her dramatic testimony in a setting more strange than ever witnessed in a courtroom, Henry De La Bruyerre Carpender, cousin of the three defendants, who charged with murder, but not on trial now, was brought into court from the jail tunnel and was seated near Henry Stevens.

Simpson asked the jurors if they had heard all of Mrs. Gibson's testimony, some of which was given in a weak, barely audible voice. One of the jurors said he did not. So the prosecutor asked Judge Charles W Parker, who is sitting on the case with Judge Frank L. Cleary, if he would instruct the court stenographer to read the testimony to the 12 men.

Woman Very Weak

Judge Parker instructed the stenographer to do so. While the stenographer was monotonously reading the questions and answers, Mrs. Gibson asked the nurse to prop her up a little and she wiped her perspiring forehead with a handkerchief. Then she closed her tired eyes. In profile her face might have been that of a dead woman. An occasional movement of her hand is, once brown with heavy work, now gray with hospital pallor, indicated she was really alive, but very weak.

The physician standing by Mrs. Gibson's bed, took her pulse. When the court stenographer finished, defense counsel, Clarence E. Case, began a cross-examination of the witness.

Case's examination was conducted in a considerate tone. He asked the questions slowly.

Q—"Mrs. Gibson, do you know Mr. Fred David—Middlesex County detective?"

A—"Yes sir."

Q—"Do you remember one evening when he requested you to go over what you did that night?"

A—"They didn't ask me to do nothing. I went over the same thing all over again."

Recalls Night

Q—"You remember that evening?"

A—"Yes, it was the night after Clifford Hayes was arrested."

Hayes was the chap who four years ago was accused of the murder by Raymond Schneider who with Pearl Bahmer found the bodies of Reverend Hall and Mrs. Mills in De Russey's lane on Saturday morning, Sept. 16, 36 hours after the slaying.

Q—"Is it a fact that you returned to the scene in the daylight of the next day?"

A—"No, I did not. I didn't go back until I went with David."

Case asked her if she knew Mr. George Seidle. She said she did. Case asked her if she ever told him she "would like to tell a certain story."

She hesitated and then replied:

"Oh, yes, I remember. He said to me: 'How much will you take for two mules?'"

Case switched quickly to another question.

Q—"Did you tell Mr. Taller and Mr. David that while you were riding along De Russey's lane that you did not get off the mule, but rode straight home after hearing the shots?"

A—"No."

Temperature 102.4

Mrs. Gibson seemed to be getting weak at this point. Dr. Charles Snyder, the young physician in attendance, took her temperature.

Her temperature was 102.4.

The sick woman shook her head from side to side as Case tried time and again to get her to say that she tried to get George Seidle to corroborate her story of what she saw in the lane on the night of the murders.

"I did not," she reiterated with each shake of the head.

Case resumed his cross-examination.

Q—"Were you able to identify Mrs. Hall and Henry and Willie Stevens in the prosecutor's office, Oct. 17, 1922?"

A—"I wasn't asked to identify nobody."

Q—"Did you tell John Fitzgerald, a reporter, that you could not identify anybody?"

A—"I told him I had nothing to say."

Points to Carpender

While Case was cross-examining the woman on the bed, the six other lawyers for the so-called "million dollar defense" sat tensely in their chairs, gathering every word. It was the defense's announced intention to break down the witness' testimony under a gruelling cross-examination.

Case then asked Mrs. Gibson if she didn't remember testifying at the preliminary hearing in August, 1926, in answer to a question by Simpson that:

"I saw something glitter and it was a man's face."

Case turned and pointed to Henry Carpender, the fourth defendant, who is to be tried later and who had been brought into the courtroom from his cell this morning.

Q—"Did you not say," asked Case amid an impressive silence in the courtroom, "that it was: 'This man here?'"

"Yes," replied Mrs. Gibson.

"Mr. Carpender come here," commanded Case.

Carpender arose and stood at the foot of Mrs. Gibson's bed.

Identifies Carpender

"That's one of the men," Mrs. Gibson said.

"You didn't say anything about there being any other man there?"

Simpson objected, but Judge Parker admitted the question.

"Nobody asked me," was her reply.

After she identified Carpender, Case asked her:

"Were you asked if you saw other forms that might be men and you said, 'I could not see. There was something moving, but it was dark. I could not see?'"

"Yes," she replied.

Case asked the witness if she remembered when she bought the 61-acre farm, she testified she owned on Mall-town-ay, near De Russey's lane, four years ago.

Name Is Jane Easton

Simpson objected that "This is an improper cross-examination," and the court sustained him.

In reply to questions from Case, she said she lived on the farm, "a good many years."

"You were sworn here today as Mrs. Easton?" Case went on. "You are also known as Mrs. Gibson. Which is your name?"

"Both."

She explained she got the name Jane Gibson when she was on the Gibson farm, "because of the Gibson farm products, and I never said nothing."

Jane Easton is her marriage name, she added.

She said she was married to a man named Easton in 1919 in "some little church around the corner." She didn't remember where. It happened in New Jersey, but she didn't recall the city or town.

Mrs. Gibson was sworn in at 11:23 o'clock, a few minutes after court was called to order.

Faces Possible Death

Facing possible death as a result of the ordeal, Mrs. Gibson, a [illegible]ously ill woman, was driven to t[illegible]rthouse in an ambulance from a [illegible]ital in Jersey City, 30 miles away, so she could tell her own "eye-witness" story. She arrived at the courthouse at 11:08 o'clock. The state's star witness came at her own volition and against the advice of her doctors.

Attendants carried the sick woman from the ambulance into the courtroom. Her head was bound with a towel.

She was very pale. A sheet covered her black dress. She was carried up the circular steps to the second floor and into the courtroom where she was laid carefully on the bed. A hush pervaded the courtroom. A trained nurse had prepared the bed under the supervision of a doctor.

Mrs. Gibson was lifted tenderly from the stretcher and placed upon the bed. Two uniformed policemen stood guard.

Woman Deathly Pale

Mrs. Gibson tried to raise her head and turn so that she could get a view of Mrs. Hall and her brothers. She could not, however, and sank back limply on the pillows. She was deathly pale.

A thermos bottle containing liquid nourishment was placed on a nearby table. A physician took Mrs. Gibson's temperature. The spectators looked on silently, many of them gaping over the railing in the gallery at the strange scene.

The bed was turned around so that Mrs. Gibson's pointed at the witness stand. The back of Mrs. Gibson's head faced the spectators leaning over their chairs in the chapel-like courtroom.

Mrs. Gibson seemed on the verge of collapse. Her eyes blinked in the lights over the judge's bench.

Mrs. Hall looked straight ahead.

Mrs. Gibson lay on a white bed, a nurse and a doctor beside her should she need restoratives in the event of a collapse.

"The state herewith produces a witness and asks to have her sworn in," said Prosecutor Alexander Simpson as soon as court was convened. The Bible was brought over to the bedside and she took the oath.

Begins Questioning

Simpson immediately began direct examination.

Q—"Where do you live?"

A—"Hamilton road, New Brunswick."

Q—"Where is that, Hamilton road?"

A—"About three miles from New Brunswick. It is known as Gibson road."

Q—"How near is it to the Phillips road?"

A—"Two miles and a half."

Q—"Do you remember shortly before the discovery of those bodies in the road, the 14th of September. Do you remember Thursday night?"

A—"Yes sir, I do remember."

She testified she went out that night looking for corn thieves on her mule, after hearing the dog bark in her house. She had been missing corn for some time.

Q—"What did you see out there?"

A—"I saw a man and a woman racing in the road."

Q—"Did you recognize them?"

A—"Yes—the woman was Mrs. Hall and the man was Willie Stevens."

Q—"What else did you see?"

A—"I say a sedan standing nearby, not far from the bushes by the roadside."

Takes Responsibility

The imminent appearance of Mrs. Gibson on the witness stand figuratively set Somerville on its ears. It was the one subject of conversation in this little town of 6,000 population. There was an undercurrent of suppressed excitement early today in the vicinity of the courthouse among the curious crowd waiting for the arrival of the ambulance bearing the famous witness.

Mrs. Gibson took all responsibility for leaving the Jersey City hospital against the advice of her physicians.

"I, Jane Gibson, do hereby declare that I do so of my own free will and in defiance of the protests of my physicians and nurses. I do also declare that I do not consider myself responsible for any ill effects that may follow such an act on my part."

Long before court opened there was a long queue of people waiting at the doors. At 9 o'clock a small bell was rapped into the courtroom. It was learned that Mrs. Gibson would not be on the stand before noon. The police on guard inside the courtroom were having some difficulty for the first hour in days in handling the throng which milled about inside and outside of the courtroom. Most of those who wanted to get in to hear Mrs. Gibson's testimony were women and girls. Many women came in expensive motor automobiles. The chairs of the prosecution were moved back so that the little bed could be placed directly in front of the witness stand.

Counsel for the defense stood around chatting and smiling as they watched workmen place the bed in its position before the witness stand.

At 9:45 o'clock the courtroom doors were opened. The courtroom was quickly filled and hundreds were turned away disappointed. There was a buzz of conversation in the courtroom as the spectators contemplated the six precedented sight of the bed that was to be used as a witness chair.

The courthouse became so congested shortly before 10 o'clock that the authorities ordered the corridors cleared. There was a great overflow of the curious out upon the courthouse lawn where they eagerly scanned the length of Main-st for the appearance of Mrs. Gibson.

MORE SNOW AND COLDER, WEATHERMAN FORECASTS

Flurry Today Taken as Forerunner of Weather Predicted for Tonight

More snow and colder tonight is the prediction of the weatherman, and Marion folks are ready to believe that winter is really on the way. Snow, just a few flurries, fell this morning, and while it melted as fast as it fell, it was generally taken as a forerunner of what is to come. The reports of blizzards and snowstorms throughout the west yesterday has prepared most citizens for the arrival of the winter very shortly.

Friday will be cloudy with snow flurries during the day. The temperature is due to drop too-far in this section of the state and remain at about the same level Friday. The northeast section of the state is to experience a considerable drop in the temperature.

EVANGELIST ADDRESSES KIWANIS CLUB LUNCHEON

Rev. Harry Vom Bruch and Members of Party Feature Program

Rev. Harry Vom Bruch of the evangelistic party now at the Calvary Evangelical Church, was the speaker at today's noon luncheon of the Kiwanis Club at Hotel Harding. Two other members of the evangelistic party, Miss Lois, pianist, and Harry Clark, contralto, were also present and contributed to the program with several selections.

Rev. Vom Bruch spoke on the need for building along spiritual as well as physical and mental lines in all work. Especially is this need emphasized in the growing tendency of boys and girls to go astray. The younger generation is in need of much training along spiritual lines, he said. The crime waves are but an indication of the trend of the times to disregard religious and moral training.

He described himself and party as being specialists along moral training. Educators are specialists in training minds physical instructors are specialists in training bodies, he said, while he and his co-workers seek to complete the development of men and women, boys and girls, by rounding out the education with training in moral and spiritual work. He praised the Kiwanians for their efforts in this work.

The announcement of an intercity meeting of Kiwanis Clubs of this vicinity at Galion, at 6:30 p. m. on Tuesday, Nov. 30 was made by President A. W. Kotte. Kiwanian James, of the Galion Club was present and issued a personal invitation to all Marion Kiwanis Club members to be present that night. H. S. Smith, of Dayton, governor-elect of the Ohio Kiwanis district, will be the speaker at the meeting.

NO BOBBED HAIR FOR THIS GIRL AT OHIO WESLEYAN U.

Bobbed hair is a disgrace in Bulgaria, the home of Sanda Georgieva, a freshman at Ohio Wesleyan University, Delaware, O. "And as for silk hose—they are quite out of the question in Bulgaria. The Best Cough Syrup Is Home-made

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have best cough medicine you ever tried.

You've probably heard of this famous home-made cough syrup. But have you ever used it? Thousands of families feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will soon earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a pint bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex; then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the pint. Or, if desired, use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. It tastes good, never spoils, and gives you a full pint of better cough remedy than you could buy ready made for three times its cost.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lets the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and creosote, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

POORHOUSE STREET IS NAMED "LAND OF PROMISE"

London, Nov. 18.—Of all London's thousands of streets and roads the most ironically named is surely Land of Promise, in the Islington district.

Land of Promise is nothing more or less than a gateway to the poorhouse, down which come the sick and the aged and infirm, to be received as guests of the local guardians.

Once there were six cottages and several workshops in the street, but these were pulled down when the poorhouse was erected.

Steps are to be taken to have the plate naming the one-time street taken down.

Benito After More Honors.

All aerial speed records by man were broken by Major Mario de Bernardi, of Italy, winner of the Schneider cup, when he made an average of 258.873 miles an hour at Norfolk, Wednesday, exceeding by thirteen miles the world speed record made last year by Lieutenant James H. Doolittle, U. S. A. The fastest time made by him was a speed a tride over 272 miles an hour. This means over four and a half miles a minute.

Not content with taking the honors of the air, Premier Mussolini is now said to be determined to win the speed honors of the sea. To this end, he already has under construction a passenger liner capable of making at least thirty-eight and possibly as high as forty-five miles an hour. It is to be an oil burner of yacht construction, of medium tonnage and equipped for first-class passenger service only. Such a vessel will be able to sail around the long-time passenger speed marvel, the Mauretania, of the Cunard line, which holds the Atlantic records both east and west. Such is to be the speed of the new vessel, that the Italian premier is said to have made the prediction that she will make the passage from Genoa to New York in five days, the present time of the average liner on varying routes between these points being from ten to fourteen days.

Italy claims the honor of being the first to send a dirigible from ocean to ocean across the North pole. It is admitted that to her goes the honor for aerial speed. She now settles speed supremacy for passenger vessels on the sea. And this from Italy, six or seven years ago in a state of anarchy and going to decay!

The New Ward Lines.

Upon the publication of the new ward lines, the opportunity has been given to those who favored the new ward lines, members of council have come in for criticism, not a few of which is wholly undeserved.

Under the new arrangement, the First ward as it have, fourteen and a half votes. It has been a voting population of approximately 2,000; the second ward, 2,200; the Third ward, 2,150; the Fourth ward, 2,406; the Fifth ward, 1,150, and the Sixth ward, 1,200. Under this arrangement, the Fifth and Sixth wards will have voting strengths out of all proportion to those of the other four wards, but it is explained that the great natural increase in the city's population may be anticipated in these two wards, and that with this in mind they were run to take care of such increases as may be anticipated in the next fourteen years, as it is hardly probable that any change will be made by the figures of the decennial census of 1930, four years hence.

Under the new arrangement of ward lines, there will have to be at least thirty-four precincts in the city, and very probably more, as the law specifies that precincts must have not less than 200 entitled to vote and not over 400.

We are told by representatives of council that the new wards were laid out without change in the First and Second wards and with as little change as possible in what were formerly the Third and Fourth wards for the reason that changes could be made thus with the least cost and for the further reason that the city's growth is being manifested to the south of the railroads. There is manifestly something in the latter view, but we are not impressed by the former, nor are we impressed with the claim that a large sum of money will be saved to the city under the new ward arrangement.

Our criticism, and it is not an unfair one, is in the running of the lines of the Fifth ward. Such a figure as this new ward presents has never before been known to man. Neither man nor nature ever produced its fellow. It is of a shape impossible of adequate description by pen. Even it would not be so bad were it not for the odd course it takes to leave a tract extending south from Gurley avenue to Washington street and west from Vine street to Delaware avenue in the Fourth ward. The line as run to form this little dipper at the south end of the Fourth ward is bound to arouse question. This little dipper begins at the intersection of Willow and Vine streets. The natural course would be to carry the south line of the Fourth ward westward from this point through Gurley avenue, the eastern terminus of which is very nearly opposite the western terminus of Willow street, and Gurley avenue's extension to Hill street. Instead, the line is run southward on Vine street to Washington street, westward on Washington to Delaware avenue and thence in a northwesterly direction on Delaware avenue to Hill street. Had the voters of this tract been left in the Fifth ward it would have been more in proportion with the other wards, it would have detracted somewhat from the freakish appearance of the ward and it would not have permitted the suspicion that the line was run as it was that some citizen or citizens might not be legislated out of the Fourth ward.

This paper is not vitally interested in the arrangement of the wards other than that it hoped for such an arrangement as would work for the interests of the city as a whole. There are other lines which would have appealed to us more greatly than those run. Our real interest in the matter was and is that there might be some division which would appease the feeling of that portion north of railroads that they haven't fair representation in council, which is no doubt intensified by the fact that four of the present seven members of council and the president of council are members of one ward in the southern part of the city. This is neither justice to the North end nor good politics. There is nothing which so works for the progress of a city as a citizenship which feels that is being given fair treatment throughout.

No matter what the ward arrangement may be, this paper's chief interest in connection therewith is that all parts of the city may feel that they have fair representation in and treatment by the city's legislative body.

Dust a Tuberculosis Risk.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator from New York. Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

If nobody ever said a word in criticism of these articles I should not be stimulated to improve them. But of course I do get criticism at more or less regular intervals.

Here comes a letter from the chairman of a special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishers' association. Mr. Harvey Kelly thinks a recent article of mine carries the implication that newspaper composing rooms are included in those places of employment which I characterized as "dusty, smoky or otherwise contaminated."

What I actually said was this:

"Since men work as cabinet-makers, type-setters, lithographers, carriage painters, millers, motormen, wool-sorters, and are employed in other capacities in dusty, dirty, smoky or otherwise contaminated places, is one reason why they are more subject than women to tuberculosis."

There can be no doubt that the composing rooms of the big, new publishing offices are in marked contrast to the vile quarters in which printers used to work. To a remarkable degree the old hazards have been removed.

I doubt if lead and other chemical fumes can be considered in this day a real factor in the development of disease. Forced drafts and other ventilation systems have done everything in the way of giving protection against these dangers. Newspaper owners and publishers deserve great credit for the wonders they have accomplished.

Of course, there are thousands of small print shops to which these improvements are still strangers. It is these I had in mind as I wrote.

Tuberculosis has been driven back. It does not begin to be the enemy to Americans that it was a generation ago. If we can do as well in the next twenty years as we have the past twenty, this disease will lose its terrors.

Tuberculosis is not inherited. It is not transmitted. It is acquired. It is not easy to escape contact with the germs of tuberculosis, but everybody can live the manner of life which will almost insure against infection.

The first rule I would give is to breathe fresh, pure air every hour of the twenty-four. The surroundings, particularly of the "run-down" person who has a tendency to tuberculosis, should be such as to avoid dust.

He should be careful about this because dust irritates the nasal, throat and lung tissues. This produces congestion and lowered resistance, making it easier for the germs of tuberculosis to invade the tissues.

He should avoid an atmosphere habitually dusty, because such an atmosphere is unlikely to be fresh and pure.

Let us do our full part to make every place of employment a safe place. To this end let us join hands with the American Newspaper Publishers' association and all other trade associations to wipe out insanitary workshops. This will help end the ravages of tuberculosis.

"But what conclusion did you arrive at?"

"Well, we didn't arrive at the same conclusion. Henry, he arrived at the hospital an' I at the police station."

Q. Why is the equinox on September 22d when the days are five hours longer than the nights? S. R. J.

A. The Naval observatory says that the autumnal equinox in 1926 occurred on September 23d, about 2 a. m. eastern standard time, but at this time the days are longer than the nights because the length of day depends on the apparent rising and setting of the sun's upper limb, and not on the true position of the sun's center. The effect of refraction and allowance for the sun's semidiameter is to increase the length of the day, and increase the length of the night, so that at the time of the equinox, in latitude 40 my the sun rises the day is about seven minutes longer than the night. The days are increasing in length, and about September 27 the day and night are of equal length.

The Way of the World.

BY GROVE PATTERSON.

It's not a good, but the wonders of nature never cease. A Gravenstein apple tree is bearing fruit in Alberta, Canada. It is long like a pumpkin and has the flavor of certain other autumn apples. It has neither core nor seed. It is interesting to speculate on what Luther Burbank will do to the fruit of the human race before they are through with it.

Don't fret about the intellectual measles. They touched themselves up queer, half-baked articles in college papers. We expect children to have the measles and we expect freshmen in school to make mistakes. On this point President Angell, of Yale, will find good folk agreeing with him when he says that "today's collegian, as a general rule, is a pretty good kid."

A famous New York judge says pistols, narcotics and automobiles are the three most important contributors to crime in the United States. Too bad he has to include the automobile which has brought more joy to the American family than any invention since the dinner table. The judge calls the gun the worst of all. He favors a tax of $100 on each revolver and a tax of one dollar on each cartridge. That's worth thinking about.

New York state officials do right in ruling that marriage is not sufficient reason for removing school teachers from their jobs. The school system which discriminates against married women is a poor system and its advocates are short-sighted. If married women do not know more about teaching boys and girls than single women, then experience is a dead waste and nobody can prove anything. And as far as the financial necessities of the case, married women usually need the jobs more acutely than single women. There should be no discrimination.

Figures are frequently dull. But when they are about potatoes, they hit most of us where we live and they become interesting. Some of us worry about the high price of spuds. Some toiling editor has got the facts and tells us what's what about the potato crop as follows:

"Complete estimates indicate that the 1926 crop of potatoes will be about 350,820,000 bushels, an increase of about six per cent. over 1925, but fifteen per cent. below the last five-year average. Maine is the outstanding leader in the production of potatoes, that state growing 35,170,000 bushels this year. The average crop in Maine has been about 34,790,000 bushels.

"In the fourteen southern potato states the early crop this year was about 19,725,000 bushels, and the late crop about 4,494,000 bushels. The total late crop in the United States is about 331,096,000 bushels. New England alone produces this year about 44,172,000 bushels.

"The humble 'spud' will bring high prices this year, as it has for several years. The potato crop has brought riches to many farmers. The average price to the farmers on June 15, 1914, was seventy-one cents per bushel; in December, 1925, the farmers received two dollars a bushel, and on June 15, 1926, they received about $1.90 a bushel.

"The explanation of this rise in price is the increase in demand and decrease in supply, especially in 1925."

Vagrant Verse.

LEGEND.

Blood of my blood is legend;
Bone of my bone is truth.
Adventure drives its wedge end
Down woodland paths of youth.
My fancies fly, but my feet are bound
To well-worn highways of solid ground.

Blood of my blood is story.
The wild winds break and cry
Across far fields of glory,
With banners flouting high.
Bayard and Arthur and Lion Heart—
The bridles flare and my pulses start.

Bone of my bone is wonder;
Such strange things can be true
Old fables still crash thunder
Down from my midday blue.
Deep in my heart they still have power
To nerve my will for its darkest hour.

Heart of my heart is Odin,
Minerva, Isis, Pan,
The chariot Hector rode in
Leads on my marching van.
Truer than all the laws of dust
Are these that keep my life in trust.

New York Day by Day.

BY O. O. McINTYRE.

New York, Nov. 18.—The world's most humid city, the Times tells us, is Albuquerque, Canada. It is long like a pumpkin and has the flavor of certain other autumn apples. It has neither core nor seed. It is interesting to speculate on what Luther Burbank will do to the fruit of the human race before they are through with it.

Newer hotels are providing corkscrews in each bathroom. They are attached to the wall by chains and can not be carried off. The most gleeful touch of all is encompassed in a list of rules in the bathrooms of one hotel. One rule says: "It is against the law to sell or serve liquor brought into the house." And a little farther is, "A charge of one dollar is made for furnishing cocktail glasses and ice glasses."

Night club popularity is by spurts. It bursts with life one week and the next will resemble the desolated Grand Central at 3 a. m. In some cases entertainers gain a following and in some others the head waiter draw the crowd. But the real smash is in collecting celebrities. The supper clubs that are those who feel in the swim of life if they are surrounded by stage folk, divorcees, renowned Loreleis, cinema stars and the like. In the popular places the floors are so small the majority "drink out" the dances. The most devoted patrons this winter seem to be those aging Romeos who enjoy company of diffident blondes with innumerable diamond sleeve bracelets. There is another impressive feature and that is the bored nonchalance of the gathering. Laughter is seldom heard.

There is that story of a night club customer given to boasting of his sudden wealth dredged from the films. He talked—for the benefit of other customers—of his de luxe Park Avenue apartment filled with rare paintings, perfect service, bric-a-brac and rugs. Arriving home at 4 a. m. he found the apartment stripped bare. On a table was a pencil scrawl: "I guess we were not boasting!"

As a peeping night club guest I saw my host settle a tab of $62. There were eight in the party and the refreshments consisted of a few razor thin sandwich cards, three quarts of tepid water and atrocious service.

In the washroom of the same club one of those impertinent young Tarzans who brighten imaginery flecks from clothes was nearing disgust with night life. His car had been stolen out front—the second he had lost this season.—Copyright, 1926.

Who's Who and Why.

VINCENT MASSEY.

A lonely individual, ascetic and scholarly, the Hon. Vincent Massey, of Toronto, owes his appointment as Canada's first minister plenipotentiary at Washington to "his reputation for learning and culture." Only once has he tried his hand at politics, and on that occasion he failed. In spite of that failure, however, he begins his diplomatic career with the promise of achieving high success.

Mr. Massey was born in Toronto thirty-nine years ago last February, of one of the wealthiest and most prominent families in the Dominion. His father founded the Massey-Harris company, manufacturers of agricultural implements, and had established the family fortune of several millions of dollars long before the son was old enough to enter school.

Vincent Massey chose definitely to qualify himself for public service. He was graduated successively from St. Andrews' college and the University of Toronto and later continued his studies at Oxford, where at Balliol he specialized in modern history. He took his degree at Oxford in 1910 and after a world tour was appointed a lecturer in modern history at the University of Toronto.

At the close of the war he became president of his father's firm. In 1925 he was appointed member of the cabinet without portfolio by Premier MacKenzie King. Though the appointment was clearly constitutional it became expedient to secure him a seat in parliament. When the opportunity presented itself Mr. Massey lost. He resigned his membership in the cabinet but retains membership in his majesty's Canadian privy council, for life, together with the title of "Honorable."

Today's Worst Story.

BY WILL ROGERS

In Minnesota they still have a lot of wild flowers in the summer time, because they haven't built factories on top of them yet. We used to know lots of states where they had beautiful wild flowers that you could see from the railroad tracks, but every year they build things where the flowers were trying to grow.

Well, the things they're putting up, factories and the like, they're all right, but the fellows that came from the country will miss the wild flowers when they're all gone. It used to be that guy could make a great hit with his girl by bringing her a fine bouquet of wild daisies and sunflowers and such things, but now she generally wants some from the florists that won't cost less than ten dollars, I guess.

There was a guy up in Minnesota I heard about, though, and he brought his girl home a quiet not long ago. She wasn't quite sure whether they were wild flowers that he had picked himself or some that he got down town, so she says: "Why, these is sure pretty flowers! And I do believe there's some dirt on them yet!"

So the guy got all red in the face, and he says: "Why, yes, a little bit, but I'going to take it tomorrow. I hope that guy didn't put the bill in with them, did he?"—Copyright, 1926.

Loving

EVERY once in a while the world learns something more about women.

The old Greek philosophers had a bunch they knew all there was to know about the ladies, and they were not in the least bit chary with their information.

During the long dark years of civilization's doubtful ages much was said about women was given out, most of it not true, little of it fit to print. Tyro, tempter, termagant—the poor creature was derided in the streets and denounced from the pulpits. It is no wonder that for a time woman hung her head and dragged her feet.

Then along came Kipling, who attempted something different in the way of enlightment.

And a certain recent Birdie book aptly titled "Why Women Are So" frankly reveals the reasons for many things that women say and women do, that puzzle everybody, themselves included.

JUST why, is woman permitting the hem of her garment to rise higher and higher? Ah, this is a mooted question.

As for the fluffy ruffle that to man at least seems as fringly feminine as curl and knitting needle what is the inner urge that makes women forswear frills for straight lines and adopt shingled locks and the cigarette?

"The new feeling of women toward life and the active role they play in it?"

This is the answer given by Miss Dorothy Todd editor of London Vogue and an international authority on Style, in her interpretation of "Costume":—

"The fashions of today are intended to clothe the woman who reads modern books, listens to modern music and looks at modern pictures," states Miss Todd in the Encyclopaedia Britannica. "They reflect a new clearness in her sentiment, a new hardness in her intellect, and a new determination to live her own life on equal terms with men.

"The designer has to reach over higher standards of excellence; he has ever to justify his modes on aesthetic grounds. New materials are continually put forth by manufacturers, and the designs woven, printed, embroidered upon them employ the most accomplished painters of this time.

"In other words, the costume of women is no longer a mere by-product, but an art in itself and a very definite expression of our civilization."

And when the Britannica article has set forth the simplicity and comfort demanded by women in their dress today, it goes on to say:—

"The accessories of costume have taken on a greater importance. A skirt which hardly reaches the knees makes stockings and shoes of first importance. Against an unornamented costume the exact shape and color of the handbag stand out with a boldness which makes its choice a serious affair. Attention is no longer dispersed over a hundred laces, embroideries and buttons, but it is concentrated on a few crucial points."

HUZZAH! At last woman's dress and "makeup" are less disguise than ornament!

Finally and thoroughly she has learned the two chief reasons for man's success—

His process of elimination and nonsense of values.

Since woman is competing with men of course she emulates his methods.

Long life to short skirt and short hair.

CARDINGTON PASTOR VISITS LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. W. R. Cain, Wichita, Kas., Delivers Revival Sermon To Nazarenes

Rev. Frank House, pastor of the Nazarene Church at Cardington, with a representation of the church, was in attendance at the revival service last night at the Nazarene Church, State and Columbia-sts.

Rev. W. R. Cain of Wichita, Kas., who is in charge of the revival, spoke on the subject, "A Clean Heart," taking as his text Psalm 51, 10-13, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me; restore unto me the joy of Thy salvation; then will I teach transgressors Thy ways and sinner shall be converted unto Thee."

"An unclean heart is a hindrance to soul winning; God only works through a clean heart," Rev. Cain said in part. "Growth in grace will never make a heart clean; God makes our hearts clean through the blood of Christ, as the result of a second work of grace. If we ever expect to enter heaven," he continued, "we must have our hearts cleansed from all sin here. Whosoever is born of God overcometh the world. God expects every Christian to overcome the sin of the world; if those who profess to be Christians had a practical religion, sinners would be more concerned about salvation. Professing and not possessing salvation is a hindrance to the world of sinners," he concluded.

He also sang a special number, "A City Foursquare," accompanying himself on the guitar.

CHAPTER FIFTY-FIVE

"I ... all come out in the pa... I know is that they've found ... about time!" the chauffeur ... muttered, struggling back with ... over the character of Peter ... Fitzwilliam.

"There she is!" Celia cried, hobbling a few feet on the stairs as Janet ... Peggy. "That's Roberta now."

But it was only the messenger from the tavern again, this time with a telegram from Mrs. Horatio Smith, delayed in England from Keene, where it had been opened. Fitzwilliam having no telephone office. Peggy read it aloud.

"Must see Springfield tonight without fail. Important business. Bob."

Springfield! That's about a hundred miles. We can make it!" Celia exclaimed. "Oh, hurry, Peter! Hurry!"

Peggy stood staring at the slip of paper. "It was sent from Boston this afternoon. She couldn't do anything about this in Boston. It may be a trick."

It was a trick, and he had yet to learn that there are more devices in heaven and earth than even his elastic ingenuity had encompassed.

Half an hour later the touring car of Mrs. Horatio Smith rolled out of Fitzwilliam for the last time, pausing only at the tavern to leave the key of the relinquished house and receive the proprietor's regrets that circumstances had rendered the widow's short stay so unpleasant. He said afterward to all and sundry that the poor thing seemed too broken up to talk much, and that evidently the affair had made her very ill. Even her voice was changed.

Mrs. Smith sat alone in the tonneau, concealing radiant smiles behind her heavy crepe veil. Janet, erect and austerely respectable, was beside Peter Brown, and neither of them had difficulty in maintaining a suitable gravity. The old Scotswoman's heart was heavy for her lad, bereft of his patrimony and his father's love. She blamed herself harshly for aiding him in the madness that had brought this to pass.

Piggy's one point of relief lay in Celia's apparent safety, though even that seemed doubtful. He held a dark suspicion that they had been tolled away to enable Scott to make his capture without publicity. Only the fact that the telegram had been signed "Bob" had persuaded him that Roberta could have had any part in sending it. He didn't see how anybody else could know his name for her.

His name—said at last the waters of Marah surged over and through him. His utmost being partaking of that bitterness. He had lost everything for Bob, and she had gone to Nat Nixon, whom she had intended from the first to marry, to whom her loyal heart was pledged. He had never had even a chance; not the slightest right to love her, even if in his lunacy he had not forever estranged her. Dot was right. He was a fool and a traitor. Celia's buoyancy, evidenced by giggles and ejaculations from the back seat, had no power to lift him. He was held to rock bottom, and from that depth he drove the hundred miles to Springfield, automatically observing the rules of the road, to stop in due time before the door of the city's principal hotel.

A heavily built elderly man with a large nose and a short gray mustache, who had been standing for two hours in the doorway, anxiously watching arrivals, sprang forward and caught Mrs. Smith's chauffeur by the shoulders before the preoccupied young person could open the door of the tonneau.

"Son! Boy!"

"Dad!"

Their hands met in a tight grip and the eyes of both were wet. Piggy spoke first, gaspingly.

"Why—why, dad?"

"Steady, Boy," said his father. "Hello, Janet! There's a room engaged for you." Turning to the amazed Celia, he added: "Your sister's waiting for you up stairs. Son, run your car down there and leave it. Hurry up! Get a move on!"

Dazed, Piggy obeyed, his parent keeping alongside as if afraid to let him get out of reach. The women were left to the ministrations of a bell-boy.

When he had parked the car, Piggy stepped out and stood still looking at the other.

"What—how on earth—"

"Boy, I've been an infernal old fool, and it took that little spitfire to make me see it. Are you—will you—" Voice failing, he held out his hand and again his Son gripped it.

"Sure. That—that's all right, dad. But I don't — How do you come—"

"Tell you all about that upstairs. Long story. Bring your bag up to my room and get out of that damned livery."

For once in his life Percival Galahad was too bewildered to act. Brazenose grasped his arm, steering him through the doorway into the hotel office, where he recovered sufficient presence of mind to identify his bags. Silently, side by side, they stood in the elevator, the father's hand resting on the shoulder of his only son, who had been lost and was found again. In silence they walked down the hall to a door, which the elder unlocked and threw open.

Piggy closed it and backed up against it, feeling curiously shaky.

"Dad, for Heaven's sake—"

"Sit down, Boy. You look tired. Want a drink?"

Boy nodded, and his father produced a flask, from which he poured two generous portions.

"Here's to our get-better acquaintance," he proposed, with an attempted facetiousness interrupted by a choke purely emotional in its source.

"Now tell me," said Piggy, setting down his glass.

"It was all that little whippet of a girl Roberta Scott. She hunted me up in Boston—"

"How'd she get there?"

"Sneaked out of the house in the dark and across lots to some back road. Flagged a train. It takes more than a couple of detectives to hold that young woman."

Piggy nodded. "All right. Go on."

"Well, she found me. And then she told me in words of one syllable where to get off, and—well—I got off there. That's all."

Salesgirls Dread Bargain Days

Louisa was tired. From morning until night she had been on her feet in the busy department store. No matter how she felt, she must serve her customers with a smile. Her head throbbed and her feet ached. Week after week, she felt her strength ebbing until she was in a run-down condition, not fit to work.

"My mother suggested that I try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound," she writes. "I took only three bottles and it brought me about all right." Through the Vegetable Compound, she found better health to do her work and she told the other girls about it.

That was several years ago. Louisa is now Mrs. L. J. Van Dyke of 1246 Spring St., Morrell Park, Baltimore, Md. She is the mother of three healthy, active children. She says that she found the tonic effect of the Vegetable Compound helpful to her during this entire period.

Every working girl knows that to do her work properly and easily she must have good health. She can not afford to lose time from her work.

Girls who suffer from a run-down condition should try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Gives Advice to Expectant Mothers

"I ADVISE all expectant mothers to use Mother's Friend." Writes Mrs. Wesley Miller, Hudson, Mich. "I have had nine children. With my first three I suffered for 24 hours. Beginning with the fourth I used Mother's Friend and was sick only 15 minutes. Since then I have had five and was only sick about 10 minutes with each."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been a positive blessing to thousands of expectant mothers for over three generations. Plain oils only penetrate the skin. But the highly refined oils and other ingredients in Mother's Friend make it penetrate through the skin to the muscles and ligaments; making them soft and pliable, thus aiding the tissues to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood.

The mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most are those who did not use it with their first baby but through its use with the second, were able to realize its almost unbelievable results.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 34, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. TODAY'S RECIPES

Savory Salmon—Two cups canned salmon, four level tablespoons butter (or substitute), one and one teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon minced parsley, three tablespoons chopped celery, two eggs, one-half cup cracker or bread crumbs, two cups cooked peas. Measure and drain salmon, saving liquor. Remove skin and bone and chop salmon fine. Add melted butter, salt, pepper, parsley and celery. Beat eggs and combine with crumbs and add to first mixture. Mix well, pack into a buttered mold and steam one hour. Turn out on a hot platter, garnish with the peas, heated and seasoned to taste and serve with a sauce.

Sauce—One cup milk, one-half cup liquor from salmon, two tablespoons cornstarch, one table spoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon catsup. Scald the milk, combine the cornstarch and salmon liquor and add gradually to the milk, stirring constantly. Then add butter and cook three minutes. Just before serving add the catsup, a little at a time.

Brown Bread—One cup brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, one teaspoon salt (level), three cups buttermilk (sour milk will do), two teaspoons soda (level) sifted in with one and one-half cups white flour, four cups Graham flour. With no more moisture as desired. Steam in pound baking powder cans until done. Then put it in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes to dry out. When there are only three or four in family only use half of the recipe, as it is best when quite fresh.

Orange Ice—Put a pint of cold water and one and one-half cups of sugar into a saucepan. Squeeze enough oranges to make a large cup of juice. Throw one of the squeezed oranges (which, of course, was washed before squeezing) into the saucepan and cook gently five minutes. Cool. When cold, add orange juice and one-quarter cup of lemon juice, strain into a freezer and freeze hard.

Quicksands of Love

BY ADELE GARRISON

Mary Protests

I WAS so afraid Mary ... through with school ... I thought she was ... that I ... a new ... for Dicky's ... promised ... a ... but the ... possibilities of ... own.

"If you'll tell me ... where I can find a ... piece of ribbon, ... Mary," I said ... readily, "I'll try my ... luck at fixing up ... your hair like your ... mother."

She sat up in bed and turned an imaginary hogshote ... at my shoulders.

"I'm just looking for the wings, Auntie Madge," she said with a little moue. "I'm sure they're sprouting, you blessed angel you. And as for the ribbon, if you'll open my work basket on the dresser, you'll find a bolt of navy blue ribbon."

I walked toward the dresser, and scented the ribbon. Mary watched me anxiously while I snipped off the length I desired.

"Is it strong enough?" she asked worriedly.

"Plenty," I reassured her, and in a few seconds I had attached the ribbon to her light chain, and run the other end through the back of her book in the same fashion as that which Dicky had invented for his own comfort.

The Snooping Hour Arrives

"Now you can read to your heart's content and not be afraid of leaving you light burning," I said. "But, to make things doubly sure for you, I'll come into your room when I make my last tour of inspection for the night. You know I always look into Junior's room the last thing before I go to bed, and it will be only two or six extra steps to come through that connecting door between your room and Junior's. You never fasten that door, do you? That's the reason I had those rooms all connecting, so that I can come up that 'secret staircase' leading from our second floor apartment to the bathroom up here, and then go through these rooms and see that everything is all safe for the night."

"No, I never fasten that door," she said. "But you can bet the last cookie in the jar that I see those other two doors have their bolts slipped in tight."

She pointed to the door leading into the public hall and to another at the very end of the room near the bathroom, which I remembered vaguely led to a little dead-end corridor.

That Mysterious Door

Suddenly the memory came back to me. The door was exactly opposite and only a few feet from a disused old door which once had opened upon the servants' staircase, in use when the building was a millionaire's mansion. We had transformed that old staircase into a private connection between the second and third floors, but the section of it leading from the third to the fourth floor was, of course, not our affair at all, and we have not touched it.

I turned to Mary with decision.

"The door is utterly useless," I said, "and it is a nuisance for you to keep bolted. I'll have a carpenter come in tomorrow and nail it up."

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry. Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body. Fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure-all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

1 egg
1½ cups flour
1½ teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup milk
2 squares unsweetened chocolate

Cream Crisco and sugar together. Add beaten egg and mix well. Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt and add alternately with the milk to the first mixture. Beat thoroughly. Crisco is by no means limited to the making of dainty desserts. I find that I can always depend on Crisco to give me flaky pie crusts, fluffy biscuits and delicious cakes. It is splendid, too, for all frying purposes.

Living

YOU, TOO, ENCYCLOPEDIA

Loving

EVERY once in a while the world learns something more about women.

The old Greek philosopher had a hunch they knew all there was to know about the ladies and they were not in the least bit leary with their information.

During the long dark years of civilization's doubtful ages mean news about women was given out, most of it not true, little of it fit to print. Too, longer, termagants the poor creature was derided in the streets and denounced from the pulpits. It is no wonder that for a time woman hung her head and dragged her feet.

Then along came Kipling, who attempted something different in the way of enlightment.

And a certain recent little book aptly titled "Why Women Are So" frankly reveals the reasons for many things that women say and women do, that puzzle everybody, themselves included.

• • •

JUST why is woman permitting the hem of her garment to rise higher and higher? Ah, this is a mooted question.

As for the fluffy ruffle that to man at least seems as fringly feminine as curl and knitting needle what is the inner urge that makes women forswear frills for straight lines and adopt shingled locks and the cigarette?

"The new feeling of women toward life and the active role they play in it?"

This is the answer given by Miss Dorothy Todd editor of London Vogue and an international authority on Style, in her interpretation of "Costume":—

"The fashions of today are intended to clothe the woman who reads modern books. Listens to modern music and looks at modern pictures," states Miss Todd in the Encyclopaedia Britannica. "They reflect a new clearness in her sentiment, a new hardness in her intellect, and a new determination to live her own life on equal terms with men.

"The designer has to reach ever higher standards of excellence; he has ever to justify his modes on aesthetic grounds. New materials are continually put forth by manufacturers, and the designs woven, printed, embroidered upon them employ the most accomplished painters of this time.

"In other words, the costume of women is no longer a mere by-product, but an art in itself and a very definite expression of our civilization."

And when the Britannica article has set forth the simplicity and comfort demanded by women in their dress today, it goes on to say:—

"The accessories of costume have taken on a greater importance. A skirt which hardly reaches the knees makes stockings and shoes of first importance. Against an unornamented costume the exact shape and color of the handbag stand out with a boldness which makes its choice a serious affair. Attention is no longer dispersed over a hundred laces, embroideries and buttons, but it is concentrated on a few crucial points."

• • •

HUZZAH! At last woman's dress and "makeup" are less disguise than ornament!

Finally and thoroughly she has learned the two chief reasons for man's success—

His process of elimination and his sense of values.

Since woman is competing with men of course she emulates his methods.

Long life to short skirt and short hair.

CARDINGTON PASTOR VISITS LOCAL CHURCH

Rev. W. R. Cain, Wichita, Kas., Delivers Revival Sermon To Nazarenes

Rev. Frank House, pastor of the Nazarene Church at Cardington, with a representation of the church, was in attendance at the revival service last night at the Nazarene Church, State and Columbus-sts.

Rev. W. R. Cain of Wichita, Kas., who is in charge of the revival, spoke on the subject, "A Clean Heart," taking as his text Psalm 51, 10-13, "Create in me a clean heart, O God, and renew a right spirit within me; restore unto me the joy of Thy salvation; then will I teach transgressors Thy ways and sinner shall be converted unto Thee."

"An unclean heart is a hindrance to soul-winning; God only works through a clean heart," Rev. Cain said in part. "Growth in grace will never make a heart clean; God makes our hearts clean through the blood of Christ, as the result of a second work of grace. If we ever expect to enter heaven," he continued, "we must have our hearts cleansed from all sin here. Whosoever is born of God overcometh the world. God expects every Christian to overcome the sin of the world; if those who profess to be Christians had a practical religion, sinners would be more concerned about salvation. Professing and yet not possessing salvation is a hindrance to the world of a kind," he concluded.

He also sang a special number, "A City Foursquare," accompanying himself on the guitar.

Was this a ruse on her part to enable them to escape unnoticed? What was expected of him in this emergency? Should he seize the moment to shake the dust of Fitzwilliam from his speeding tires, telling Celia that her sister would meet them in New York? Or should he wait here for further developments?

When Celia heard the news she executed an astounding volte-face, presenting on the instant a jubilant countenance wreathed in smiles. But she still refused to consider immediate departure. She said Roberta had done something to get the detectives away and now she could come back herself. They would wait for Roberta.

Peggy then called a mass-meeting, pointing out to the two women that conceivably something had been left to their united intelligence and that opportunity was notoriously averse to knocking twice at any door. They were still in conference, Janet, wearied of ...

Peggy's one point of relief lay in Celia's apparent safety, though even that seemed doubtful. He held a dark suspicion that they had been tolled away to enable Scott to make his escape without publicity. Only the fact that the telegram had been signed "Bob" had persuaded him that Roberta could have had any part in sending it. He didn't see how anybody else could know his name for her.

His musings and at that the waters of March surged over and through ... its manner long partaken of ... he was. He had lost everything ... Bob, and she had gone to Ned Nixon, whom she had intended from the first to marry, to whom her loyal heart was pledged. He had never had even a chance, not the slightest right to love her, even if in his misery he had not forever estranged her. But was right. He was a fool and a failure. Celia's buoyancy, evidenced by gaiety and exclamations from the back seat, had to prove to life. He was told to rock bottom, and from that depth he drove the hundred miles to Springfield, automatically observing the rules of the road, to stop in due time at the door of the city's principal hotel.

A lonely little, elderly man with a large nose and a short gray mustache, who had been standing for two hours in the doorway, anxiously watching arrivals, sprang forward and caught Mrs. Smith's chauffeur by the shoulders before the preoccupied young person could open the door of the limousine.

"Son! Boy!"

"Dad!"

Their hands met in a right grip and the eyes of both were wet. Peggy spoke first, gaspingly.

"Why—why, dad!"

"Steady, Boy," said his father. "Hello, Janet! There's a room engaged for you." Turning to the amazed Celia, he added: "Your sister's waiting for you up stairs. Son, run your car down there and leave it. Hurry up! Get a move on!"

Dazed, Peggy obeyed, his parent keeping alongside as if afraid to let him get out of reach. The women were left to the administrations of a bell-boy.

When he had parked the car, Piggy stepped out and stood still looking at the other.

"What—how on earth—"

"Boy, I've been an infernal old fool, and it took that little spitfire to make me see it. Are you—will you—" Voice failing, he held out his hand and again his son gripped it.

"Sure. That—that's all right, dad. But I don't—How do you come—"

"Tell you all about that upstairs. Long story. Bring your bag up to my room and get out of that damned livery."

For once in his life Percival Galahad was too bewildered to act. Braxmore grasped his arm, steering him through the doorway into the hotel office, where he recovered sufficient presence of mind to identify his bags. Silently, side by side, they stood in the elevator, the father's hand resting on the shoulder of his only son, who had been lost and was found again. In silence they walked down the hall to a door, which the elder unlocked and threw open.

Piggy closed it and backed up against it, feeling curiously shaky.

"Dad, for Heaven's sake—"

"Sit down, Boy. You look tired. Want a drink?"

Boy nodded, and his father produced a flask, from which he poured two generous portions.

"Here's to our get-better acquaintance," he proposed, with an attempted facetiousness interrupted by a choke purely emotional in its source.

"Now tell me," said Piggy, setting down his glass.

"It was all that little whippet of a girl, Roberta Scott. She hunted me up in Boston—"

"How'd she get there?"

"Sneaked out of the house in the dark and across lots to some back road. Flagged a train. It takes more than a couple of detectives to hold that young woman."

Piggy nodded. "All right. Go on."

"Well, she found me. And then she told me in words of one syllable where to get off, and—well I got off there. That's all."

Gives Advice to Expectant Mothers

"I ADVISE all expectant mothers to use Mother's Friend." Writes Mrs. Wesley Miller, Hudson, Mich. "I have had nine children. With my first three I suffered for 24 hours. Beginning with the fourth I used Mother's Friend and was sick only 15 minutes. Since then I have had five and was only sick about 10 minutes with each."

Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician and has been a positive blessing to thousands of expectant mothers for over three generations. Plain oils only penetrate the skin. But the highly refined oils and other ingredients in Mother's Friend make it penetrate through the skin to the muscles and ligaments; making them soft and pliable, thus aiding the tissues to relax and adjust themselves to the changes during motherhood.

The mothers who praise Mother's Friend the most are those who did not use it with their first baby but through its use with the second, were able to realize its almost unbelievable results.

Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradfield Regulator Co., Dept. 34, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

TODAY'S RECIPES

Savory Salmon Two cups canned salmon, four level tablespoons butter (or shortening), one and one teaspoons salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon minced parsley, three tablespoons chopped celery, two eggs, one-half cup cracker or bread crumbs, two cups cooked peas. Measure and drain salmon, saving liquor. Remove skin and bone and chop salmon fine. Add melted butter, salt, pepper, parsley and celery. Beat eggs and combine with crumbs and add to fish mixture. Mix well, pack into a buttered mold and steam one hour. Turn out on a hot platter, garnish with the peas, heated and seasoned to taste and serve with a sauce.

Sauce One cup milk, one-half cup liquor from salmon, two tablespoons cornstarch, one table spoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper, one tablespoon catsup. Scald the milk, combine the cornstarch and salmon liquor and add gradually to the milk, stirring constantly. Then add butter and cook three minutes. Just before serving add the peas, a little at a time.

Brown Bread One cup brown sugar, one-half cup molasses, one teaspoon salt (level), three cups buttermilk (sour milk will do), two teaspoons soda (level) sifted in with one and one-half cups white flour, four cups Graham flour. With a many raisins as desired. Steam in round baking powder cans until done. Then put it in a hot oven for fifteen or twenty minutes to dry out. When there are only three or four in family only one half of the recipe, as it is best when quite fresh.

Orange Ice Put a pint of cold water and one and one-half cups of sugar into a saucepan. Squeeze enough oranges to make a large cup of juice. Throw one of the squeezed oranges (which, of course, was washed before squeezing) into the saucepan and cook gently five minutes. Cool. When cold, add orange juice and one-quarter cup of lemon juice. Strain into a freezer and freeze hard.

Mary Protests

I WAS so afraid Mary ... through my scheme for ... would think she was capable ... that I promptly swung ... a new ... Dicky's ... pajamas with a ... bed, right in the ... of her ...

"I say, I'll tell you, ... I can lend a piece of ribbon, ... Mary. I said hur... "I'll try my ... back at fixing up ... your light like your ...

She sat up in bed and turned an imploring face to me at my shoulder.

"I'm just looking for the wings, Auntie Madge," she said with a little moue. "I'm sure they're sprouting you blessed angel you. And as for the ribbon, if you'll open my work basket on the dresser, you'll find a lot of narrow blue ribbon."

I walked toward the dresser, and secured the ribbon. Mary watched me anxiously while I snipped off the length I desired.

"Is it strong enough?" she asked worriedly.

"Plenty," I reassured her; and in a few seconds I had attached the ribbon to her light chain, and run the other end through the back of her book in the same fashion as that which Dicky had invented for his own comfort.

The Snooping Hour Arrives

"Now you can read to your heart's content and not be afraid of leaving you light burning," I said. "But, to make things doubly sure for you, I'll come into your room when I make my last tour of inspection for the night. You know I always look into Junior's room the last thing before I go to bed, and it will be only five or six extra steps to come through that connecting door between your room and Junior's. You never fasten that door, do you. That's the reason I had these rooms all connecting, so that I can come up that 'secret staircase' leading from our second floor apartment to the bathroom up here, and then go through these rooms and see that everything is all safe for the night."

"No, I never fasten that door," he said. "But you can bet the last cookie in the jar that I see those other two doors have their bolts shipped in tight."

She pointed to the door leading into the public hall and to another at the very end of the room near the bathroom, which I remembered vaguely led to a little dead-end corridor.

That Mysterious Door

Suddenly the memory came back to me. The door was exactly opposite and only a few feet from a disused old door which once had opened upon the servants' staircase, in use when the building was a millionaire's mansion. We had transformed that old staircase into a private connection between the second and third floors, but the section of it leading from the third to the fourth floor was, of course, not our affair at all, and we have not touched it.

I turned to Mary with decision.

"The door is utterly useless," I said, "and it is a nuisance for you to keep bolted. I'll have a carpenter come in tomorrow and nail it up."

When Baby Complains.

There are many ways a baby has of expressing any pain or irregularity or digression from its normal condition of health and happiness. A short sharp cry, a prolonged irritated cry, Restlessness, a constant turning of the head or of the whole body, fretful. In these and other ways a baby tells you there is something wrong. Most mothers know that a disordered stomach, or bowels that do not act naturally are the cause of most of baby's sufferings. A call for the doctor is the first thought, but in the event of any delay there should be ready at hand a safe remedy such as Fletcher's Castoria.

Castoria has been used for baby's ailments for over 30 years and has merited the good will of the family physician in a measure not equaled by any other baby's medicine because of its harmlessness and the good results achieved.

And remember this: Castoria is essentially a baby's remedy and not a cure all for every member of the family. What might help you is too often dangerous when given to a babe.

To avoid imitations always look for the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Proven directions on each package. Physicians everywhere recommend it.

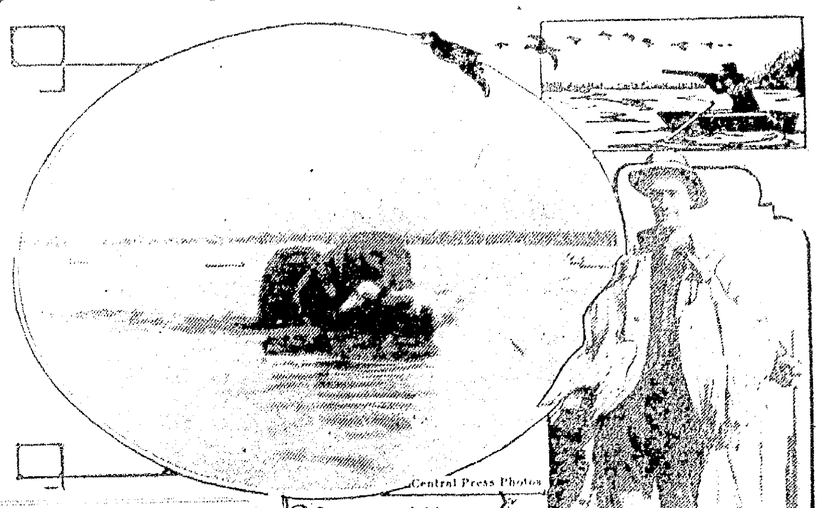
"Hunters' Paradise" is Planned in Utah By Building Long Dike Across Lake



Central Press Photos

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 18.—A new project is being launched in Utah to make the marshes of Bear river a "shooting paradise" for western gunmen. It is proposed that a 14 mile dike be built across Bear River bay, and that 150 square miles of feeding grounds be marshed. Then this sanctuary and shooting area be made a shooting paradise. Game wardens, game protection associations and the sectional and national associations of game commissioned association of game commissioners generally have agreed that one of the most vital spots in the entire country is the Bear river marsh area in Utah, and that something must be done here soon or the hunting of eleven western states will be cut to nothing. The lack of sufficient feeding grounds and its attendant ills is said to be the cheif problem to contend with in the perpetuation of our migratory birds.

By building a fourteen mile dike across an arm of Great Salt Lake there marshes in Bear River bay can be made to cover an area of about 150 square miles. The dike would take in the mouth of Bear river, Boxelder creek and a half dozen other smaller streams, and the area would soon freshen. The average depth for the water over this immense area would be little over a foot, none of it over two feet and a little bit of it over a foot and a half. A good bit of it would be marsh. Experiments have shown that good duck food can be grown in a year. The building of this dike would then insure a fine bird depot for the birds of the intermountain flight. It would perpetuate wild fowl hunting in eleven western states, and, if the plan is as successful as the specialists believe it will be, Bear river will be only a start in the program which will take in every portion of the United States.

Probable Cost

Roughly speaking, the dike and its attending features would cost something like $300,000 and $400,000 would cover all expenses. There is a good bottom across the place where the dike will be put, which will simplify matters considerably. The level of the backwater will be a little higher than the waters of the lake. With Bear River pouring its fluctuating stream into the backwater continually, it will be only a short time until the area is entirely fresh water. Beyond, the dike, of course, would be

WOMEN TO FIGHT SUPREME COURT FOR BUILDING

National Woman's Party Refuses To Give Home for Temple of Justice

Washington, Nov. 18.—A controversy between the United States Supreme Court and the National Woman's Party promises to enliven the many disputes arising over the carrying out of the Washington end of the $50,000,000 public building program.

Boldly defying the reported wishes of Chief Justice William Howard Taft and other members of the highest court, the officers of the woman's party declare they will not give up their headquarters building, to become a site for a proposed national temple of justice, without a hard struggle.

The woman's party occupies an historic three-story building opposite the capitol with a park intervening. It was the gift of Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont "for the permanent service of women."

"It is natural that the chief justice should prefer such a fine location, facing the capitol with the Congressional Library close to it," said an announcement of the woman's party.

It is just as important, declare the officers of the organization, to maintain a shrine "through the doors of which pass women from many lands who are remaking the status of women and bringing about the final equality and freedom the world over."

The building is one of the oldest in Washington but is well preserved. A tavern stood on the rear of the property in 1800 to which President Adams went when he arrived in Washington. The building became a temporary capitol in 1815 after British soldiers had captured Washington.

Unless an amicible settlement can be arranged, the United States Public Buildings Commission and the Congressional Commission may institute condemnation proceedings for the property.

South Dakota, Montana, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Montana and New Mexico are included in the bird which also visit Utah during the fall and winter months.

It is therefore important to hunters throughout the country, that the Bear River marsh be protected, that they have a safe refuge in one of the deadly months of the year, a time when thousands of ducks are annually. The loss in the last years of 1914-1915—years of dry weather and hard, heavy snow—and there were besides, not quite the regular number was not known, game commissioners estimate that at least 2,000,000 feathered birds fell victim of the alkali in less than three days after they hit the marshes. Then came a period of good years, and the loss again dropped down to the thousands, but in 1924 came the greatest scourge of all when 2,000,000 ducks and geese perished.

Today because of the watchfulness of game commissioners, the loss in migratory birds is not so great and strenuous efforts to stamp out any future plagues is being made. The 14 mile dike across the lake is being planned and a bird paradise is being urged.

SHOOT AMPHIBIAN PLANE FROM GUNBOAT TURRET

Los Angeles Harbor, Nov. 18.—As a result of the most successful catapulting of a heavier amphibian biplane from the stern turret of a battleship by a bomber explosive, the Navy Department will order every battleship in the navy equipped with the catapult, it was announced today.

The experiment made aboard the battleship West Virginia marked the first time that a 5500 pound amphibian plane has been launched by means of a pressure catapult. A charge of powder, equivalent to that used in an 8-inch shell, was the force that sent the plane, without a pilot, into the air, over Los Angeles harbor.

Navy officers declared that the success of the experiment will more closely link together the battleship and the airplane.

Variety is also the spice of death.

Keep Coughs Out of "Danger Zone"

Coughing irritates the throat and makes you cough more. The more you cough, the harder it is to stop. And a severe throat or lung trouble if you let inflammation get into the bronchial tubes. It may spread into the "danger zone"—for these tubes lead directly into your lungs.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral stops coughs quickly, almost instantly in spasmodic attacks. And it does far more; it brings lasting relief as its soothing, healing powers are absorbed deep down in the bronchial tubes, penetrating through and through the irritated membranes.

With the first swallow of Cherry Pectoral you feel its comforting warmth as it loosens up the tightness of congestion. It stimulates expectoration — Nature's helpful plan for getting rid of phlegm and germs. Absorbed into the membranes themselves, this concentrated, 90% pure medicine not only stops your cough but corrects the cause. And that is why relief is immediate and lasting.

Cherry Pectoral is pleasant, safe and dependable—for children and grown people. At all druggists—50c; twice as much, $1.00. 1124b

WIFE AND THREE CHILDREN ARE POISONED

Examine Food That Causes Death to Five in Boston

Nov. 18—Professor Henry ... Tooley College, his wife ... three were battling for ... today as police waited at the ... clue for experts to analyze ... in the system itself and furnish a clew to the fiend of a fiend, who, authorities here contend, attempted a wholesale poisoning.

Suspecting that each member of the family ate for breakfast yesterday, contained the poison that so nearly carried death with it.

Today Professor Meyer groaned from his sick bed that he knew of no enemy who would attempt so monstrous a crime.

Mrs. Meyer prepared the breakfast, the maid being away. She served orange juice, cooked cereal, scrambled eggs, toast and coffee. Parts of each of those dishes today were under the microscope at the state health department. Van Cleve Meyer, 9, and Antoinette, 10, were at school and the professor was enroute to Boston when the members of the family were seized with deadly nausea. Answering a call from Antoinette's school, Mrs. Meyer was attacked enroute home and could hardly guide the automobile. Mrs. Meyer collapsed when Van Cleve came in to be followed by the father. Only Van Cleve was able to crawl to the telephone and summon aid.

Eyes Pop at Harding High When Steam Issues from Kettle Placed on Ice Cake

DEMONSTRATIONS of the peculiar properties of liquid air were given before the students of Central Junior High School this morning during the chapel period by Professor Elliott James, of Chicago.

Lecturing as he carried on his demonstrations, James brought in to his talk many of the things studied by the students in their chemistry and physics course and made it entertaining and instructive.

Some of his stunts with the liquid air was to pour some of it into a teaspoon and place it on a cake of ice, with the vapor, caused by the boiling of the liquid air, coming out the spout, there a piece of rubber hose, a banana and a piece of beefsteak.

He explained how liquid air is made, showing a small machine, similar in type to those which make liquid air for commercial use. The air is reduced to a liquid by being put under tremendous pressure and then releasing this pressure, causing it to drop nearly 50 degrees in temperature. This released air circulates about a coil in which other air is passing from the pressure machine and this incoming air is cooled and drops further in temperature.

James made a candle by pouring kerosene into a test tube and dipping it into liquid air, solidifying the kerosene and then by lighting a wick which he had placed in the kerosene, he had a candle. He also showed the potential power of liquid air by turning the vapor from it into a small steam engine, which ran under the power. He placed some of the liquid air in a metal tube, closed at one end, and drove a plug into the open end. In a few seconds the force of the vaporizing liquid blew the light plug clear out into the auditorium. James carries his liquid air in an open mouth container, which he explained must never be closed, or the tremendous power of the liquid air would blow up the container and perhaps the building with it.

Two Men and Woman Facing Poultry Stealing, Liquor Charges In Hardin County

Mrs. Maude Gilmore, Frank McCann, Roy Deer Held in Jail Following Raid of Sherjff Berlien and Deputy

Kenton, Nov. 18—Mrs. Maude Gilmore and Frank McCann are being held in the Hardin county jail here facing charges of stealing chickens and possessing materials designed for the manufacture of intoxicating liquor, it was stated Wednesday by Sheriff George H. Berlien, following a raid on the Gilmore home in Nigger Island, west of the city.

Roy Deer, son-in-law of Mrs. Gilmore, is also held after being implicated by McCann on the chicken stealing charge. The three defendants will likely be arraigned late today.

A six gallon still, two barrels of mash and fifteen chickens were seized by the sheriff and his deputy, John Crooks, in their raid on the home. The still was concealed in a sack in a closet while the copper coil had been buried in the yard of the home, officers said.

The raid was made on complaint of Fred Dodds and Albert Smith, farmers, who reported that their chickens had been removed from hen coops after the locks were broken.

Mrs. Gilmore, Sheriff Berlien said, refused admittance to her home and officers were forced to break open the door. They found the woman hiding behind a dresser in an upstairs room. The two men were found some distance from the residence after a long search.

CAMPAIGN IS EXPECTED TO BE SUCCESSFUL

Meeting Tuesday Night Precedes Launching of Annual County-Wide Solicitation

Upper Sandusky, Nov. 18—Totals announced today following the last days work on Annual Budget drive were $23,691.50 a figure declared by those in charge to be a favorable indication of the drive going over the top.

This annual Budget Campaign was launched Tuesday night under the direction of C. C. Hatfield of the National Council Y. M. C. A. with William C. Rapp, of this city, campaign chairman for the county. Delegations from Carey, Nevada, Marseilles, McCutchenville and Sycamore were present to join their forces with Upper Sandusky for the three day task.

The speaker of the meeting was A. M. Smythe, of Cleveland, a former Nevada man, who spoke on "Problems That Will Challenge the Citizens of Tomorrow." He told of the remarkable change that has come over the young men of the country since he was a boy. Turning to the challenge of tomorrow, Mr. Smythe, who is a real estate dealer and bank official in Cleveland, brought before his hearers some of the situations in the cities today. Challenges that will require the ablest, keenest, hard thinkers to meet them with a solution; problems more serious, he declared, than any this nation has yet confronted. The labor problem is one, which is bound to come up in serious form within the next 25 years and men will be needed to solve it.

Young men who were reared in the wholesome atmosphere of rural life, is the need of the cities today. The Y. M. C. A. develops the moral side of youth, such as even the home is not able to do. The average bad boy of today would be his community's ablest leader if directed in the right channel.

This is the work of the Y. M. C. A. Let us train our youth the best possible to grapple with the problems of the next quarter of a century. The Y can do a world of good in this capacity.

In Wyandot County over 250 boys are under leadership training in the county Y. M. C. A. as well as a large number of girls in the Girl Reserves.

Dale Parsell, leader of the Hi-Y group at Marseilles, gave an inspirational talk on what the Y has meant to himself and the boys of Marseilles, that in that small village 26 boys are now banded together where only six were interested in the Y four years ago. Clean living, clean speech, clean athletics are the goal of the Hi-Y, Parsell said, adding that this organization is the greatest factor for good in the Marseilles High School today.

Luella Hanna told of the work of the Girl Reserves. About 65 girls in the county now meet twice a month for lesson study.

A. G. McQuate, county Y secretary, told of the various groups of the county and how the Y is functioning in them. Every group of the county is using the Community Hall in different ways. Mr. McQuate admitted that the organization was badly in need of money but declared that it is worth any sacrifice.

The budget campaign leaders are: H. E. Snyder, Carey; E. M. Uncapher, Marseilles; C. H. Bell, McCutchenville, H. L. Knandl, Nevada; A. R. Cramer, Wharton; John Neace, Upper Sandusky; W. E. Baugher, Sycamore.

Qui Sing Wong, a young Chinese girl is studying modern methods of hairdressing in London with a view to opening an up-to-date beauty parlor in Hong Kong, where she proposes to make the Chinese women acquainted with the bob, the shingle, and the permanent wave.

His father is in dire circumstances and needs his son, therefore the commissioners in the jail was suspended to a later date, providing Bennett go to the home of his father and under no circumstances leave the home of his father or the county of Wyandot except to secure aid or provisions.

CONTAGIOUS SITUATION SAME IN UNION COUNTY

Three Lives Claimed at Plain City by Diphtheria Spread

Marysville, Nov. 18—The situation in Union County as regards contagious diseases, remains about as it was a week ago. Three deaths from diphtheria have occurred, near Plain City, south of here. There have been several new cases of scarlet fever at Irwin in Union Township, but they were cases in families already under quarantine. No new families have been reported.

No new cases of diphtheria have developed. The County Health Commissioner H. G. Southard has announced that any child in the county desiring anti-toxin treatment obtain the same free of charge at the Union County Health office in Marysville on Saturday.

The schools at Plain City are closed on account of the epidemic. Miss Elizabeth Seidegel, County Health nurse, and other officials of the health department have made strenuous effort to find the carrier of the disease. Health Commissioner Southard took a number of cultures taken at Plain City to the state laboratory at Columbus, in order to save time, so that the disease may be eradicated as soon as possible.

'BEAT BUCYRUS' IS GALION HIGH GRID SLOGAN

Rival Teams To Meet in Annual Clash This Week

Galion, Nov. 18—"Beat Bucyrus" is the most popular phrase heard around Galion this week and as usual is the season of the contests and team. With the annual battle with the school's greatest rivals only two days away football talk predominates the conversation of Galionites. Other games are history and almost forgotten but the Bucyrus contest looms as always as a real fight.

The records of both teams being considered, Galion seems to be the favored team and yet one can never be sure of taking a Galion-Bucyrus tilt until the final whistle has sounded. From the time when the schools organized football teams, the annual game between the two neighboring towns is always looked forward to as the grid classic of the season. It is for that game that the students put forth special efforts to outcheer and outclass their opponents in every way. All clever cheers and new songs are left on the shelf to be first used on the day of the big game and even the teams try the same system of saving their tricks until an attentive audience is on hand.

Looking up the past records of the football battles that have been staged throughout the years of athletic relations Galion has won far more games than their ancient rivals. In the last five years, however, Galion has won three and Bucyrus two. So Saturday is the Bucyrians' chance to even things somewhat and the lads from the county seat are determined to win this game on their own field.

From all indications half of Galion will be at Lamest field Saturday at two thirty to see if the Orangemen's mighty attack which has so baffled opponents in the last few games, will prove effective against the well trained Red and White eleven.

Another interesting feature of Galion's clash game will be the rivalry of coaches. Coach Moeller of Bucyrus and Coach "Dave" Eaton of Galion played several years together fighting for Wittenberg college and this first meeting of their teams will prove most exciting.

MARYSVILLE TO PLAY FOOTBALL AT GRANVILLE

College Town Outfit Rated Strong by Union County Dopesters

Marysville, Nov. 18—With [illegible] series under their belts, the Marysville High School football eleven will journ to Granville to meet [illegible] eleven from that place. This will be the last game for the locals this season, who will make their [illegible] of the season on Thanksgiving Day the game with Mt. Sterling here.

From current reports Granville will have a classy eleven ready to engage the locals.

If comparative scores mean anything the two squads can be said to be even. Granville beat London by a 12 to 3, while Marysville humbled the same outfit by a 19 to 0 score. The game with Grandview, Granville came out on top with a 21 to 6 score while the best the locals could do was a Columbus suburb was 13 to 7.

The scene of practice for both squads was shifted from the athletic field to Recreation Park to the playground of the West School building. The Recreation field was in bad condition for practice because of the recent rains. Practice consisted mostly of passes and punting with a short passage mixed in. A number of new forward plays were also gone over, which the Kingsmore expects to spring on Granville.

There is no question in the minds of the local fans, but that Granville has the strongest team to stack up against the locals this year. M. H. S. is in good shape for just such a squad and will be ready with a box full of trick plays and a grim determination which should mean another victory for the best team Marysville High School has ever put on the gridiron.

CLAIMS CITY LAWS OBSOLETE

Kenton, Nov. 18—That many ordinances now on the in the city's archives are obsolete and should be repealed, was the statement made last night by Solicitor Loucke B. Brown, who with Attorney G. B. DeWitt is at present engaged in the task of recodifying the city's laws.

While many are of no use at all still others are inadequate and do not meet the requirements of present-day conditions resulting from years of progress, growth and changes.

Such ordinances are being listed and will be presented to the legislators either for repeal or alteration.

EXTRA SESSION OF CONGRESS NOW LOOMING

Democrats and Farm Bloc Group Want Attention for Pet Issues

Washington Nov. 18—The spectre of farm relief legislation flashed across the congressional horizon today to threaten the Coolidge administration anew with the possibility of an extra session of congress next spring.

The democrats already are demanding an extra session for tax reduction.

Enact the McNary-Haugben bill by next March 4, was the cry of returning farm bloc leaders, or congress will be held in session until it is enacted. The bloc leaders, while avoiding an open threat of filibustering tactics, made it plain they considered farm relief more important than any other legislation likely to confront congress during the coming winter.

The action of the St. Louis farm conference in demanding early passage of a bill providing for a government export corporation to be financed by an equalization fee, was pointed to as indicating the necessity for enactment of the McNary-Haugen bill. The latter provides just such a corporation and calls for an equalization fee to be paid by the farmers.

The farm bloc will go into the new fight in a stronger position than in the last season, where it met defeat. The recent price deflation in cotton, with its resultant hardships upon the south, has won over many converts. In fact, one provision of the bill last spring would have set aside a huge fund to be used solely to stabilize cotton prices in event o fa bumper crop. Had the bill been in force now, its advocates contend, present cotton depression could have been averted.

"With increased production of wheat throughout the world and with Russia coming back, wheat faces the danger of a similar condition of over-production, such as characterized the cotton crop this year," said Gooding. "If we can pass legislation bringing about orderly marketing of farm products, we can bring about orderly production. This can be accomplished through an export corporation, to take care of surplus crops.

LaRue, Nov. 18—LaRue football fans are to be given a real treat Thanksgiving morning when the stars of the past five years trot out on the local gridiron to do battle with the High School team of this year.

Three captains of previous years will be in the lineup: Neuenschwander of '22, Wolfe of '24, and Greenwood of '25. Other stars of previous years that have promised to play are Bill Smith, Ralph Soloman, Bill Guthery, Leonard Metz, Raymond Rinn, Stanley Lindsey, Devere Jones, Arthur Kale Altman Raub, and Oral Fee.

The game will be called at 10 A. M. Ogden will referee and Holliday will umpire.

Meanwhile, LaRue is working faithfully to defeat Richwood at Richwood Friday the last game on the locals' schedule.

Richwood broke even with LaRue last year each team winning at home, and this year there was a tie score at LaRue.

The LaRue lads have won the last five games played and are more than anxious to make it six straight at the expense of Richwood.

The team will be accompanied to Richwood by the High School Band and about two hundred students and townspeople. They will leave at 2:30 o'clock and school busses will carry all those who care to go and have no ways of their own.

Gossip and Guesses in the World of Sport

By Pat Murphy

AT 11:30 tonight, the varsity of the Ohio State team and its rooters will leave Columbus in a special train for Champaign, Ill., where the Scarlet and Grey will tangle with Bob Zuppke's warriors in the final conference game of the season Saturday. In the party leaving tonight will be the members of the team and its trainers, coaches and a party of newspapermen. Two other special trains will leave Columbus Friday evening, one sponsored by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce and another by the student body at the university.

The team will spend Friday in Danville, Ill., where a light workout will be indulged in, leaving for the scene of the game early Saturday morning.

HOW times have changed! Reports from the east carry the story that the Syracuse University team, which plays Columbia at the New York Polo Grounds Thanksgiving day, will, if the weather is bad, wear oilskin pants and thin, flesh-colored silk stockings. If the weather is fair, the team will be attired in nice new trousers and wear ankle-high socks, with the leg bare from the knee to the ankle. Can you imagine what would have happened had a team come onto the gridiron so dressed a few years back?

THE New York Athletic Commission has reversed itself on its recent edict to Rex Rickard that Elky Clark, of England, would have to prove himself in a few battles with trial horses before he would be allowed to meet Fidel LaBarba for the flyweight championship in New York. The match is on for Jan. 17. Peg Bettison, president of the National Sporting Club of London, cabled the commission that Clark was good enough to meet anyone at his weight. The boxing czars, taking Bettison's word for it, have o. k'd. the match.

* * *

Many things the New York commission has done have looked silly, but their policy of making a fighter prove himself before being ballyhooed into a championship match is a good one. At the prices being charged these days for tickets to a fight of any consequence, it is a good thing to have some one protect the fan, and assure him that a contender has at least an outside chance.

GEORGE MORIARTY, new pilot of the Detroit Tigers, is said to be addicted to writing poetry in his spare time. It is lucky for George that this failing was not generally known when he was umpiring in the American league. He will need more than poetry and sugared phrases to make a pennant winner of the team which Ty Cobb has left him, but any members of the team who try to take advantage of his poetic nature are likely to have a rude surprise. When playing third base for Detroit, George was known as a scrappy player, and as an umpire he took little back talk from any of the players.

The "World Famous Indians," La Rue's professional football entry, do not think that the defeat handed them in Ashland, Ky., by the Armco team a few weeks ago, was a true criterion of their worth as punt chasers. Manager Skelly has challenged the rolling mill team to a return match, with the proviso that the entire gate receipts go to the winner. The team has had more practice in the last two weeks and its members are confident that they can erase the defeat suffered.

Shelby-Harding Game to Decide N. C. O. Title

Greatest Gridiron Battle of Loop Season Expected in Clash Here Saturday

Red and Black Warriors Have Slight Chance at Championship If They Win from Coach Curry's Men; Possibility of Tie for First Place

BY EDWIN SCHOENLEB

THE greatest grid battle of the season, the most important fray of the year, the football classic of the North Central Ohio League. The Harding High-Shelby clash to be staged here Saturday answers to any and all names.

The white-ruled field on the Marion County Fairgrounds Saturday will be the mecca for hundreds—and even thousands—of football enthusiasts of Marion and Richland Counties and followers of the fortunes of North Central Ohio League teams.

The title of the league hangs on the outcome of Saturday's tilt. The success of Harding High's football season will also be decided Saturday. Marion fans will have the opportunity to witness the major gridiron fight of the year in Central Ohio high school circles.

And while Harding and Shelby strive for victory, another great N. C. O. League clash which may prove costly to some team's pennant hopes, will take place at Bucyrus when Galion High invades the Crawford County seat.

Shelby Ranks

Shelby High ranks at least a touchdown better than Harding. The Richland County crew is near the top of the league and has a wonderful opportunity to grasp the pennant, while Harding is tied for third place and has a chance, only a very slight chance, to end in a tie for first place. Shelby defeated Mansfield 6 to 0 last week after Harding battled Mansfield to a 7-to 7 tie.

With all odds in favor of Shelby, the Harding High eleven will face an even greater task Saturday than when it lined up against Mansfield two weeks ago. But Harding is game and nine men will enter the contest knowing that they are fighting for the honor of their school for the last time in their football career.

Harding Fans Confident

Several hundred Marion fans journeyed to Mansfield, fully expecting Harding to be swamped under an avalanche of touchdowns and came home pouting like a six-year-old who wants a stick of candy and knows he can't have it.

Three minutes after the game started and Mansfield had scored the first touchdown, the "I told you so" buzzed along the Harding side of the field. Two hours later, when the Red and Black warriors left the field, they had established themselves as gridiron battlers and since that time no rumor that Harding would again meet defeat this season has been heard.

The Marion lads were a sickly looking tribe when they met Delaware last week and won the game on two safeties. Both safeties could have been and should have been touchdowns but the old "heads up" game was lacking. It was the poorest exhibition of ball staged by the locals this season.

But that game is over and what happened last week has nothing to do with what will occur at the fairgrounds Saturday.

Shelby footballers defeated Mansfield last Saturday by "passing them to death." They completed only five out of nine attempted passes and one was good for the touchdown. They made few ground gains and were credited with only six first downs.

It will be remembered that Marion tied Mansfield in the third quarter as the result of Born's excellent pass work and W. Merchant's ability to snare the oval. Sifting it all down we find that Mansfield has the worst pass offensive of any team in the league while Harding and Shelby are about evenly matched in heaving the oval for long gains.

Shelby goes into the lead in the N. C. O. League and practically cinches the pennant if it downs Harding Saturday. Harding has won two, lost two, and tied one during the season and success of the league schedule depends on the outcome of the contest with Shelby. If the locals win, the season may be labeled a success. If they lose, it is a failure.

Shelby Second

Shelby is now in second place with three victories and a defeat. If the Richland County eleven wins Saturday, it goes to the head of the class and cannot be forced out of the position the remainder of the season.

Galion gridders, who have not been heard from for three weeks, will break into action again Saturday when they take the trip to Bucyrus. Galion has been rather quiet but has been occupying a prominent position in the league with three victories and two defeats. Should they win from Bucyrus—and there is little chance of them meeting defeat—they will step in what will possibly mean a tie for first place or even the title position.

According to previous games, Galion has a slight edge on Bucyrus and Coach Reed a victory. Both teams will be fighting for a last possible stab at the pennant. Bucyrus, by defeating both Galion and Shelby within the next week, has a chance to come out on top. With four victories and two defeats,

LORAIN LIONS ADD TWO NEW STARS TO LINE-UP

Tim Dougherty, former Missouri College center, and Ed Mackey, ex-Mt. Union guard, will be in the line-up of the Lorain Lions' cage Quintet tonight when it faces the Fisher Tires Red Class A champions of Cleveland. Dougherty and Mackey are new members of the team this season.

Lorain Lions defeated Indy Dairies in the opening game of the season last Saturday without Dougherty and Mackey but when the Lions appear here in the future for a return game, both additional stars will be with the team.

HUBER AND LOGAN GAS TEAMS TAKE BOWLING GAMES

Each Continue Winning Streak with Three Victories

Logan Gas bowlers and Huber men continued their winning streak of the last few weeks last night when they scored victories over the C. D. & M. and Anthonys, each winning three games.

The Logan Gasers won the first two games with ease but scored only a 12-point margin in the final tilt. The total for the threegame match was 2487 to 2153. Hubers had little trouble in downing Anthonys in three consecutive contests.

Anthony and Fahey were tied for first scoring honors on the Logan team, both rolling 214 points in the first game. Fahey led in the match with 554 to Anthony's 528 pins. Grigsby was high scorer for the C. D. & M. with 190 points. Klehm led Hubers to victory with 196 points in one game, while Fetter starred for Anthonys with 181.

The regular bowling session of the Marion Business Women's Club was held last night on the Y. M. C. A. alleys prior to the Industrial League matches.

Porter's team had little trouble in marking up a victory over Blum's outfit, winning both games of the match. Slagle's crew won two games from Sautter's bowlers. Hammer's team scored a double victory over the team led by Oberlander.

CATES HELPING JONES

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 18 Jack Cates [illegible] Bulldog is helping [illegible] Jones with the Yale eleven [illegible] Harvard game Saturday. [illegible] was a star halfback [illegible] and is concentrating on the wing men.

ALL-AMERICAN GRID CANDIDATES

BY NORMAN E. BROWN

BROWN UNIVERSITY stands out as the most unusual, if not the strongest team of the year, partly through its feat in going through the victorious battles with Yale and Dartmouth with the eleven men who started the first fray. And one of the outstanding figures of that Brown lineup is Capt. Harold Brosla, left end.

Brosla is probably one of the greatest defensive ends in the game today. He demonstrated his ability clearly in the two games in which his feat in blocking Harris' punt late in the Dartmouth fray gave Brown its chance to score its only touchdown. Towle, Brosla's teammate, fell on the ball on Dartmouth's 12-yard line and a forward pass netted the score.

H. BROSLA

Newell Cravath, center of the powerful University of Southern California team, has demanded All American consideration ever since he started playing varsity football. This despite the fact that he has always been outweighed many pounds by the opposing center.

JEFF CRAVATH

He is an accurate passer and good line smasher on offense and a fast man on defense, frequently intercepting passes tossed over the line.

His work has been a big feature in making Howard Jones' team one of the most powerful on the western side of the rockies.

Harding Cagers to Open Season With Faculty Team

MARION basketball fans are promised the treat of the year when Harding High cagers open their season Dec. 17, opposing a quintet composed of members of the high school faculty. The game will be played in the Star Auditorium.

High school students are looking forward to the opening contest, hoping to see Supt. Jesse H. Mason and other prominent faculty members perform on the basketball court and wondering what chance the Harding High five will have against a team starring Dewey Bohyer and Coach "Bably" Compton, who both belong to the faculty.

The faculty team has not yet been organized and may have only a few practice sessions before its first—and probably last—public appearance, but individual members are already planning a victory.

Dewey Bohyer, a three-year letter man on the Ohio Wesleyan cage team, now engaged in the high school here, will fill a forward position, while "Bably" Compton, coach of the Harding High quintet and formerly star guard on the Wittenberg team, will act as a guard.

Coach Paul Sprout of the Harding grid team, had little basketball experience in Otterbein College—at least, so we're told—but will try his stuff on the court on the night of Dec. 17. He will play any position except center. He's too small for that place, says Coach Compton.

Coach Compton, who is to organize the faculty team, announced today that Supt. J. H. Mason would probably jump center but the superintendent, who heard of the announcement, denies any knowledge of the game and says he will do his playing on the bench. It is said that he will be seen in the back guard position, however, when the initial whistle blows for the big game.

And there's Paul Hoffman of Heidelberg, a new arrival among the faculty, who may act as center and E. H. Slade, chemistry instructor, who is also eligible for the team.

In addition to the men mentioned, Coach Compton will probably call on Calder, coach and instructor in Central Junior High.

Lots of fun and action is promised and Marion fans will have a chance to get their first squint at an entirely new Harding High varsity quintet and also see the coaches and instructors doing their duty.

Thirty five candidates are out for practice on the Harding High squad with sessions being held every afternoon on the high school gym floor. Dewey Bohyer is taking care of the gang while Coach Compton assists Coach Sprout in rounding the grid team into form for the last game of the season Saturday.

Next week, Coach Compton will take over the training of the squad and with the report of additional men from the

After winning the first game by a 16-point margin, Marion Buicks last night dropped the second and third pin contests to the Recreationals of Delaware in a three game match staged on the Y. M. C. A. alleys.

D. Jones was high scorer for the Delaware outfit with 204 points in the second contest and a total of 586 for the three games. He was closely followed by his teammate Semans who rolled 200 on one occasion and had a total of 568 points. Wheeler led the Buicks with 119 points in the second game and a 557 total for the three-game match.

The Buicks journeyed to Delaware last Wednesday and met their first defeat at the hands of the Recreationals on the Delaware alleys. The match last night was the second of a series between Delaware and Marion. The Buicks will meet a Fostoria team on the local alleys Saturday night.

GENE MAY JUMP FROM RICKARD TO FUGAZY CAMP

Tunney Said Not To Be Pleased Over Tex's Overtures

By DAVIS J. WALSH

New York, Nov. 18—Gene Tunney miffed in his best ballroom manner over features" in connection with Tex Rickard's promotion of the recent unpleasantness in Philadelphia, may assert the ever in favor of the crown prince, nee Humbert J. Fugazy, it was learned on excellent authority today.

Under Fugazy's auspices, Tunney's opponent would be either Jack Sharkey who exposed the colored gentleman's the woodpile or Jack Delaney. Both heavyweight champions, and the bout, if held, will take place at the Polo Grounds during the late summer months.

Meantime, Delaney and Sharkey may meet for the right to challenge for the title. Both are bound to Fugazy, the former by preference and the latter by contract, expiring Feb. 1.

Meet Again Nov. 30

Within the last 24 hours, Tunney and Fugazy have conferred on the matter and a second and final meeting is due on Nov. 30. A definite proposition will be made to Tunney then and, if Rickard can't better it, Tunney will go over to the other camp. It is said that Tunney has been impressed by a statement from Fugazy that a lease on the Polo Grounds is as good as his.

These are the latest developments in the Rickard vs. Fugazy war for the control of championship matches. Sharkey Delaney and Harry Wills are with Fugazy. Rickard has Jimmy Maloney and Harry Persson, while Paul Berlenbach and Tunney are on the fence ready to go the way the cat jumps. From a lieutenant of Tunney's, it was learned today that the champion's grievances against Rickard are "unimportant" and that Gene feels quite friendly toward the promoter.

Battle Seen in Ohio State-Illinois Game on Saturday

Contest to be Thirteenth Annual Encounter; Bucks Hope History to Run True

Team Able To Win from Other on Own Gridiron, with One Exception, Since War; State To Lose 16 Members of Varsity by Graduation

C[illegible]MBUS, O., Nov. 18—Another [illegible] bottle, with a place [illegible] Big Ten leaders at stake, is [illegible] when Ohio State invades [illegible] stadium Saturday for the [illegible] of its 1926 campaign. Dis[illegible] but not disheartened over [illegible] to 16 loss to Michigan last [illegible] the Buckeyes have toiled like [illegible] week to muster their maxi[illegible]ength against the Illini.

[illegible] will be the thirteenth an[illegible]nter between the elevens of [illegible]hoods and the fifteenth in his[illegible]ry. By virtue of three straight wins [illegible] three years, the Illini hold [illegible] at present on the Ohioans, [illegible]gain being six games to four. [illegible] contest was a 5 to 3 head[illegible]e that of 1918 was "unof[illegible].

[illegible] Ohio Staters are hoping that [illegible] will again run true to form, at [illegible] fall. In the seven previous [illegible]s since the war, with one [illegible] neither team has been able [illegible]om the other on its own grid[illegible]ron. Ohio State generally has [illegible]or at Illinois and the Illini [illegible] here. The single exception [illegible] years 1919 to 1925, inclusive, [illegible] 1924 when Illinois won, 7 to 0.

Recall 1923 Game

[illegible] unique situation, plus a number [illegible]rousing finishes and the inevita[illegible]ss scores of the games have [illegible] the Ohio State-Illinois series one [illegible] most spectacular of modern foot[illegible]. In the same seven games cited [illegible] 1923 did more than a single [illegible]own spell the difference between [illegible] elevens. In that game Il[illegible] won here in the stadium, 9 to 0, [illegible] contest that marked "Red" [illegible]'s first local appearance.

[illegible] of the experts hand Ohio State [illegible] edge over Illinois in the impend[illegible]ame. They point to the fact that [illegible] State walloped Chicago, 18 to 0, [illegible] the best Illinois could do was 7 [illegible]. And they cite the 3 to 0 defeat [illegible] Illinois at the hands of Michigan, [illegible]ainst last week's 17 to 16 thriller [illegible] with the Wolverines. They also [illegible] back to Illinois' 3 to 0 win over [illegible] Pennsylvania, while the best the Quak[illegible]ould do against Columbia was 3 [illegible] last week, where Ohio State some [illegible]go trounced Columbia 32 to 7.

[illegible] Grey overlook the fact that both [illegible]go and Columbia were "coming" [illegible] when Illinois met them, while [illegible] Buckeyes caught them earlier in [illegible] season. They also ignore the es[illegible]ial fact that when Ohio State and [illegible] met, all bets, "dope" and ev[illegible]g else generally are off. And [illegible] forget that Illinois used only its [illegible] team to turn back Wabash last [illegible], saving the regulars for Ohio [illegible].

[illegible] game promises several other thrills. It will mark a duel in which Bernie Shively, gigantic Illinois lineman, and Ed Hess, Ohio State's All-American, will be watched closely to see which is the better guard. Ohioans are convinced that better guards than Hess are not made, while Bob Zuppke is credited with a similar statement concerning his protege.

Sixteen Buckeyes, all members of the varsity squad and 12 of them "O" men will make their exit from intercollegiate football with the Illinois game. Seven are regulars. The 16 constitute the largest delegation to be lost from the varsity ranks at one time in all Ohio State football history.

They include Captain Marty Karow, fullback; Myers Clark, quarterback; Alex Klein, center; Ed Hess, guard; Bill Hunt, halfback; Bill Reed and Fritz Mackey, guards; Herb Slough, center; Parker Bloser, end; Tim McCarthy, guard; Don Shafflette, fullback; Bruce Blanchard, quarterback; Ray Roshon, guard; Julius Kroglow, guard; George Weerlein, halfback; and Bob Siemons, quarterback.

The team will leave here tonight, halting at Danville, Ill. Several special trainloads of Ohio adherents will follow the squad to Champaign.

PLAN GOLF LINKS ON SHOVEL FIELD

Sixty Golfers Are Backing Project for Course

Plans for a nine-hole golf course on the athletic field of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., are being considered, Francis Bacon, personnel director of the company, announced today.

At least 60 golf enthusiasts in the offices and shops are backing the project and will aid in the construction of the course should the word be given. All are willing to join hands and help build the greens on the field if permission is given next spring. Blue prints of the proposed links have already been drawn it was said today.

Evidence of the great interest of Steam Shovel employes in golf is disclosed by the construction of a small booth in the new Shovel gym where golf bugs may practice their swing during the winter months.

The recent football game between University of Michigan and Annapolis was the first time the Wolverines had failed to score since the game with Vanderbilt University four years ago.

MICHIGAN STAR GETS BRONZE EMBLEM

REBUILD SHOVEL TENNIS COURTS

Grounds Being Placed in Condition for Net Fans

Steam Shovel tennis courts are being rebuilt for the coming season.

The three courts on the Shovel grounds are being filled in and leveled off with a new supply of clay and will be in excellent condition when the racket wielders again have an opportunity to perform.

Tennis at the Steam Shovel was popular last summer despite the many recreational ball games being held each afternoon after working hours. It is expected that even greater interest will be shown early next season, and plans to give the best accommodations to tennis fans are being completed.

FACE DEMOTION

Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 18—Al Miller, speedy back, Kilgour, guard, and French, back, face demotion to the scrubs in the impending shake-up on the Harvard varsity. Clark, Stewart and Guarnaccia probably will replace these players against Yale.

Army-Navy Football Game on Nov. 27 Will be Season's Big Social Feature

CHICAGO, Nov. 00—When the Army-Navy football game is played in the West this fall for the first time in history—the two service school teams clashing in Chicago Nov. 27—it will be the outstanding social event of the early winter season.

Distinguished visitors from all parts of the country will attend, sitting in special boxes for which Chicago millionaires have paid from $200 to $2,500 each.

While the center of interest among the thousands of mid-western fans clamboring for tickets to the game is the brand of football to be seen in the legend-laden contest, hundreds of Chicago college girls may have other thoughts.

There will be more than 2,500 handsome cadets and middies in the city when the game is played and one Chicago newspaper has actually appealed to the city's young women to refrain from "flirting too strenuously" with the boys from West Point and Annapolis. Appeal was made for the co-eds to be "dignified and ladylike."

Chicago, with its Great Lakes Naval station and whose citizens are keen for yachting and boating, may be partial to the Navy when the teams meet here.

In order to aid the middies in the cheering and singing many Chicagoans are practicing the famed "Anchors Aweigh," the outstanding football song of the midshipmen.

For more than 20 years this stirring song has inspired the Navy to victory.

"Anchors Aweigh" was written as an Annapolis class song in 1907. The music was composed by Charles Zimmerman, leader of the naval academy band at that time. The song is s follows:

"Stand Navy down the field,
Sails set to the sky.
We'll never change our course,
So Army you steer shy-y-y-y,
Anchors Aweigh,
Sail Navy down the field,
And sink the Army.
Sink the Army Grey.

"Get under way, Navy,
Decks cleared for the fray,
We'll hoist true Navy Blue
So Army down your Grey-y-y-y
Full speed ahead, Navy,
Army heave to.
Furl Black and Grey and Gold
And hoist the Navy,
Hoist the Navy Blue."

CRACK ITALIAN PILOT CARRIES OFF LAST ROUND

Breaks Jimmy Doolittle's World Speed Record for Three-Kilometer Course

Washington, Nov. 18 — Bearing America's last remaining air record in his pocket, Major Mario de Bernardi, the crack pilot of the Italian navy, came to Washington today to make his formal farewells before returning home.

Major De Bernardi won the Schneider cup race at Norfolk last Saturday in record time, defeating the American navy's premier planes and pilots, and just before leaving Norfolk late yesterday he broke the world's speed record over a three kilometer course.

His little red monoplane hurtled over the straightaway course at a rate of 258.87 miles an hour, breaking the previous record held by Lieut Jimmy Doolittle, U. S. A., by more than 13 miles.

The little Italian was presented to President Coolidge this morning and congratulated on his achievements.

"THE FIGHTING MARINE"

LOANS up to $500

Lazy people go through life and attract no more attention than a dirty finger nail in the third grade. But the real worker becomes an important cog in the office, the factory and the community. He gives to the world a little more than is expected. He tackles life's problems with a determination to make someone a little happier, a little better off for his effort. That's life at its best, and it's the kind of stuff that keeps things going on merrily.

The City Loan takes pride in having helped a lot of workers along the road to personal freedom and independence. A timely loan to a man of energy encourages him to greater effort and happier conditions.

Uncle Wiggily set the steamer chair in the middle of the room. It was not properly unfolded yet, and the bunny knew it. So with a sly look on his face Mr. Longears said:

"You must be tired, Mr. Bob Cat. Please sit down in this steamer chair until I can put on a clean collar and then I will go with you."

"No fooling!" snarled the Bob Cat.

"No fooling!" repeated Uncle Wiggily. "Sit down!"

So the bad chap sat down. But no sooner was he in the tricky chair than, all of a sudden it collapsed, went together and shut up and best of all, the Bob Cat was caught fast in it just like a trap.

"Oh, what's the matter? Where am I? What happened?" bowled the Bob Cat. "Where am I?"

"Caught fast in my steamer chair,

All of a sudden it collapsed!

and there you'll stay until I can telephone for the Police Dog!" laughed Uncle Wiggily. "More than once I have been nipped in that chair myself, and now it is your turn! Ha! Ha!"

Wiggle and squiggle as he did the Bob Cat could not get out of the steamer chair, and soon the Police Dog came and took him off to jail where he may be yet, if he hasn't gotten out.

"Good old steamer chair!" said Uncle Wiggily as he fixed it properly, so it would not shut up again. Then he sat in it and finished reading the book about how to have adventures in winter. And if the sunshine will tickle the toes of the rag doll and make her dance, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's tooth brush.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meats, Grain, Livestock

While the holiday supply of nuts can not be found in local markets, it appears that prices of many kinds of nuts will be higher this year than in previous years.

There is no doubt, local dealers say, that raw English walnut supply will be short, and that the price will be higher than for many years. There are no California English Walnuts on the market yet. A shipment is expected here next week, but it will be a small one and will not go far toard stocking the retail trade.

While prices will not be set until the shipment arrives it was said this morning that the price will probably be between 40 and 45c a pound. In other years California nuts have retailed between 35 and 40c a pound. Imported nut shipments are also short, and the price of these will be higher this year.

Other kinds of holiday nuts are being received in fair quantities, but the price of these will be from a cent to five cents higher than in other years. The nut crop is short everywhere, dealers claim.

OFFERINGS OF STANDARD OIL EXTREMELY HEAVY

Independents Generally Reactionary Although Losses Are Fractional on Wall Street

New York, Nov. 18—Offerings of stocks of the New Jersey Standard Oil group were extremely heavy at the opening of the stock exchange today, and there was a flood of stock thrown on the market at steadily declining prices.

Independent oils were generally in sympathy, though losses were fractional.

On the whole, the market demonstrated its ability to absorb a large volume of stock without any serious breaks in any sections.

Following yesterday's sensational decline in the agricultural implement stocks, there was practically no selling. Little interest in these stocks today. Rails in the specialty stocks were quiet and dull while the speculative wave was passing over, but did not participate any "rush" to unsettle the market position of their stocks.

BAD COLD? TAKE "CASCARETS" FOR BOWELS TONIGHT

No headache, constipation, bad cold or sour stomach by morning

Get a 10 cent box

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, head and nose clogged up with a cold—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is reabsorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10 cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months.—Adv.

Getting Up Nights

For Bladder Relief Is Nature's Danger Signal. Columbus Minister's Wife Relates Experience.

Rev. W. H. Mitchell, 821 No. Pack St., Columbus, Ohio says: "My wife was troubled seriously with bladder irritation until we used Ithinated Buchu (Keller Formula.) She would have to get up 6 to 8 times each night. Will gladly answer any letter."

Lithiated Buchu acts on the bladder as epsom salts on the bowels. Drives out foreign matter and decreases excessive acidity, thereby relieving irritation. The tablets cost 2c each at all drug stores. Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Carl G. Ungerleider, druggist.—Adv.

LOCAL HUNTERS FINED $25 EACH BY M. O. STOLL

One Charged with Shooting Hen Pheasant, Other with Bagging Raccoons

Justice M. O. Stoll yesterday fined two men $25 and costs each on charges of violating the hunting laws.

The men fined were E. N. Longberry, living northeast of Marion and E. L. Stevens, of Marion. Both affidavits against the men were sworn out by A. H. Neimeyer, deputy state game warden.

Stevens pleaded guilty to having a hen pheasant in his possession. The bird was shot by one of his companions in a hunting party Tuesday. Stevens had the bird when Neimeyer found them. The man who shot the bird claimed he did not know that he was shooting at a hen pheasant. The bird was sent to the City Hospital where it was cooked and served to patients.

Longberry was charged with possession of raccoon pelts caught before the season opened. Pelts valued at $75 were taken by Neimeyer. Longberry pleaded guilty, and paid the fine. The pelts were turned over to the state game warden at Columbus for disposition.

Asks Divorce

Suit for divorce has been filed in common pleas court by Bertha Taylor against Frank Taylor, charging gross neglect and cruelty. The couple were married May 27, 1901, and have two children. According to the petition Mrs. Taylor charges her husband with abusing her and calling her vile names and that she was forced to leave him in April, 1925.

SALVATION ARMY REVIVAL DRAWS LARGE AUDIENCE

Adjutant Hewitt of New York City gave an interesting talk on "Isaiah's Vision" at a well-attended meeting last night at the Salvation Army Hall, N. Main-st. "The world needs men who are willing to go anywhere for God," he said. "The only way to true happiness is to have more of God." Songs were contributed by Mrs. James Seckinger and Mrs. Everly. Adjutant Hewitt will continue the meetings throughout the week, services beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

Sciatic-Neuritis

The sciatic nerve, situated at the back of the hip joint is frequently the subject of Neuritis, giving rise to the painful disease Sciatica. The symptoms are intense pains which shoots down the thigh to the foot, often aggravated by walking, and with painful points along the course of the nerve, very tender to the touch.

The disease is a very obstinate one and does not readily respond to ordinary treatment. It takes more than the usual pain sedative even to alleviate the pain. The quickest, safest and surest way to get rid of the persistent nerve racking pains of Neuritis is to get a bottle of Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2, which comes in capsule form. Take them as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, all pain and soreness. Continue until the Neuritis has entirely disappeared and you are able to work and rest in comfort once again. Bradley Drug Store keeps Allenrhu Special Formula No. 2 in stock all the time and sells lots of it. Mail orders filled. —Adv.
